ACHS students win 1st place award for magazine

The first place award from the Columbia Press Assn., received by the Antioch High School students that wrote and published the literary magazine "Finesse", is not only a testation to the journalistic talent of the students involved but also to the caliber of the high school's English department.

Principal Arthur Blecke told the Antioch High School Board of Education about this award at the board meeting.

Also at its last regular meeting, the board approved a 6.5 percent increase in this year's school budget, the budget totals $8,800,000.

The board heard from director of pupil services, Peter Pekkarinen that the official enrollment for this school year is 1,714.

The board also heard that Freshman Parents Night was attended by 50 parents who took part in programs on guidance and counseling services, student personnel office procedures, study skill, depression among adolescents and substance abuse.

Indict Palm on 4 counts in fatal crash

by GLORIA DAVIS

When 24-year-old Tim Palm of Antioch stopped his damaged boat because he couldn't see with the blood running in his eyes from head injuries, his system could have been full of alcohol and cocaine.

This is what Assistant State's Atty. Randy Stewart will endeavor to prove at Palm's trial in connection with the death of Craig Campbell, also of Antioch. Palm's speed boat crashed into Campbell's pontoon boat, on Lake Marie, the evening of Saturday, Aug. 1.

Last week, the Lake County Grand Jury indicted Palm on one charge of operating a watercraft and causing a death while intoxicated. According to Stewart this charge is comparable to a reckless homicide charge on land.

These charges include having a blood alcohol level greater than the legal level of .10, and having cocaine in his system. This also brings a charge of possession of cocaine.

Stewart said that the maximum sentence Palm could receive if convicted of the charges is five years in jail.

He was expected to be arraigned in Judge William Block's Lake County court on Thursday.

There was a $40,000 warrant out for Palm's arrest, but he was being given until Thursday to turn himself over to authorities. His bail at that time was to be set at $4,000 cash.

Last February
in our Rehabilitation unit
we put 7 stroke patients back on their feet, taught a secretary how to type again, showed a carpenter
how to hammer left handed
...and made sure
one young blushing bride walked proudly down the aisle.

We believe in happy endings.

Perhaps the most difficult aspect of a disabling illness or injury is the aftermath . . . the days and weeks of learning to deal with a new reality.

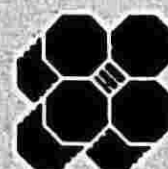

In our Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation department, each patient receives a complete and individualized program of therapy from a team of skilled professionals. And while we work to overcome the physical challenges of today, we also provide a focus on tomorrow. Because there is life to be lived . . . and there are dreams to be fulfilled.

Like getting to the church on time.

Scouts battle white water rapids on rafting trip

Thirty six Boy Scouts and leaders from Antioch BSA Troop 190 enjoyed a two day raft trip down the Wolf River in northern Wisconsin last month.

The boys and leaders rafted through 12 different sets of white water and rapids on their scenic 22 mile voyage down the river.

The extended campout included 100 percent attendance of all boys in the troop and 12 of their dads.

Excellent weather added to the excitement and fun that everyone enjoyed.

Of course, getting wet and swimming a bit was definitely a must on this outing. The water was warm, clear and refreshing.

The boys agreed that scouting lets them do things that they could not normally do at home or in school.

The Scouts look forward to next year, when they can attend extended campouts to the shut-ins of Missouri and the Porcupine Mt. at Michigan.

known, active members of the community, were riding on their pontoon boat on Lake Marie when the accident occurred. Cambell's body was not found, despite dragging efforts of many area underwater diving teams, until it washed close to shore a few days later.

Palm reportedly drove his boat away from the accident scene until his vision was impaired by blood pouring from cuts on his head when he hit several pieces of metal in the boat.

A passing boater took he and his passenger William Rentner, 24, also of Antioch, also was injured by flying metal, to Webb's Marina where the Antioch Rescue Squad and the police were called.

Palm and Rentner were taken to Victory Memorial Hospital, Waukegan, where tests for alcohol and drug consumption were given to him about two hours after the collision.

Craig Campbel was thrown from the pontoon boat, had serious bodily injuries and died from drowning. Debbie Campbell was pinned in the wreckage of the pontoon boat, badly injuring her one arm.

The Antioch Viking Featherweight Cheerleading Competition will get underway at 11 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 27 at the main ACHS football field.

Each team will perform an original "Hello" cheer as well as a sideline cheer.

They will vie for superior, excellent and good ribbons based upon such factors as appearance, loudness, spirit, overall impression, eye contact and syncopation.

Judging the competition are Miss Antioch of 1987, Melissa Swiatek, Sue Bindley, captain of the ACHS varsity cheerleaders, Dana Aashley and Bethany Birkhaug, senior varsity cheerleaders, and Sara Goetzlamn, 1986 graduate and colorguard alumnus. All parents are encouraged to come out and cheer for their favorite team.

Speaking of favorite teams--the Antioch Viiking Heavyweight team really put it to McHenry, as it won 38-6.

Running back Jeff Fogel had the day of his life as he scored two touchdowns in the first half as a fullback, and then one more as a quarterback in the second half.

In addition, Tim Lehn, tailback, ran eight yards for another touchdown. Brother Tom Lehn, playing defensive end, tackled the opposing quarterback, causing a fumble, picked up the ball and ran for another touchdown.

On an end reverse play, tight end Jason Ferris ran five yards for another touchdown. Kicker Nathan Ovitt Kicked two extra points to make the score 38.

McHenry's six points were gained against Antioch's reserves.

News & Notes

is part of the permanent picture; and the heat of summer is all but forgotten as we approach the last week of September. Have you noticed how the trees are turning colors already? Isn't it a bit early for that?

The surprise entertainment at PM&L's annual awards banquet was a shade different, too, as the theatre group topped off its 26th season Sept. 12 at the Tower Room with a production number from "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

"The more matronly members of PM&L took their daughters' places as the courtesans in the number," said past President Aileen Biel.

Joining in the fun were Elmarie Beno, Dorothy Purfeest, Alice Scheske, and Aileen Biel, alongside Ricky Apostol and Shirley Jensen.

Winning awards for the 26th season were: Leading actor, Frank DiMarco for "Forum"; leading actress, Colleen Jordan for "Angel Street"; major supporting actor, Lou Jones for "Angel Street" and Mark Badtke for "Forum" in a tie; major supporting actress, Lillian Allen for "Come Blow Your Horn."

Minor actor, Randy Miles for "Forum" and minor actress, Jamie Seputis for "Angel Street"; youth performer, James Dalgaard for "Annie Get Your Gun"; best show, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," directed by Donna Badtke; best set, Badtke; continuing service award, Debbie Beno, Gerry Mandel, Mickey Mandel, Jeri DiMarco, Rosline Trusky, and Scott Kiederlen.

The current PM&L offering, "Music Man," is a very family-oriented show for both the cast and audience with 10 PM&L families involved, including three generations of Joanne Springer's clan. Joining Joanne for this show are daughters Jessica Springer and Wanda Schaffer, and granddaughter Lisa Schaffer.

Biel reports that you better get tickets early. "We were nearly sold out for the first performance, and were toally sold out the second night," she said. "Our answering machine (on the ticket line) is working quite well; don't be afraid of it."

"Music Man" performances this weekend will be at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 25 and Saturday, Sept. 26; and at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 27. For reservations, call (312)395-3055.

Also performing this weekend are the Antioch Marching Sequoit Band, as they begin their competition season Saturday, Sept. 26, at Northwestern Band Day. The group continues under the direction of John Olisar and Sydney Klocke, colorguard sponsor. Good luck to you all! Lift those feet high!

Don't forget the Rotary Club Bar-b-que and auction at the VFW Hall on North Ave. Sept. 26. The pork chop dinner starts at 5:30 p.m. with

ACHS slates back to school night Oct. 6

"Back to School" night for parents at Antioch Community High School is planned for Tuesday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m.

The event is sponsored jointly by the Parent-Teacher Club and the school.

After a short orientation session in the commons, parents will follow their

Following completion of the class schedule, parents and teachers will return to the commons for a social hour with refreshments.

Massive rezoning plan to be reviewed Oct. 21

The site has not been set yet, but at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 4 a hearing will be held for Antioch and Lake Villa Twps. on Lake County's proposed new zoning ordinance for unincorporated areas of Lake County.

The proposed ordinance would rezone everything in the unincorporated areas of the county, though most landowners would find themselves under much the same regulations as they are under the existing ordinance.

Three new types of land use districts will be added: Neighborhood Conservation, Urban and Suburban. Most homes will fall under the Neighborhood Conservation districts.

People who might have cause for concern are owners of large parcels of vacant property. Most will be rezoned from agricultural to countryside and it will have minimal difference. But one of the reasons for the change is to plan out areas which are likely to have and can support significant development.

According to Eve Lee, chairman of the Regional Planning Commission, said that the old ordinance did not pay sufficient attention to flood plains and access to public utilities. Those areas which are not on flood plains and do have easy access to public utilities will be designated as the areas best suited for intensive development.

Copies of the proposed ordinance and maps are available for public inspection at the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality in the county building at 18 N. County St., Waukegan.

The county's zoning board of appeals will accept oral testimony on the maps but is limiting testimony on the text to written statements only.

After all local hearings are held, the zoning board will conduct a final hearing and allow the public to present oral testimony on the text of the ordinance. The date of the final hearing will be announced later.

Students serve internships at Abbott

Eight college students completed internships at Abbott Laboratories this summer in a program designed to train talented minority youth for careers in business and technology.

The program is conducted at Abbott in cooperation with Inroads, a national organization that recruits minority students and prepares them for leadership positions in corporations and the community. Abbott is one of more than 850 corporate sponsors of the program, which helps offer minority youth employment opportunities and leadership training.

Three students participated in internships in Lake County. Debra Johnson, a senior accounting major, assisted the international finance department in Abbott's diagnostics division. She has spent four summers at Abbott. In past summers, Johnson has worked in manufacturing and cost accounting in the same Abbott division. This summer, she worked with Grayslake resident Georgia Butler, manager of international financial reporting and planning. Johnson, who graduated from North Chicago Community High School (NCCHS) in 1984, attends Westminster College in Fulton, Mo.

Roy Knox, a sophomore industrial engineering major at the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana, also worked for Abbott's diagnostics division. This was Knox's second summer at Abbott. A 1985 graduate of NCCHS, Knox completed an internship in equipment engineering under the supervision of Grayslake resident Ed White, section manager in industrial

Developer holds grand opening

Cambridge Homes, Inc., developers of Cambridge Country in Mundelein, has grand-opened three single family model homes in its garden home series. Upon completion, Cambridge Country will include 159 garden homes available currently in three homestyles priced from $88,490 to $100,490.

"Cambridge Country is unique in its marketplace," said Richard J. Brown, president of Cambridge Homes. "There will be close to 900 homes in five different homestyle series when completed, offering homebuyers a variety of architectural styles and price ranges."

"Since we opened the preconstruction sales at Cambridge Country a few months ago, we have sold 44 of our garden homes and 87 of our move-up single-family homes," Brown said.

Brown explained that the garden homes are attached single family homes built on more modest homesites in order to provide affordable entry-level housing for singles and young couples and to provide comfortable, manageable single family homes for empty nesters. "No more than two homes are built side-by-side, so that each home has a front, back and side yard," Brown said. "This provides buyers with the privacy, space and resale value of single-family home with the added bonus of an easy-to-maintain homesite."

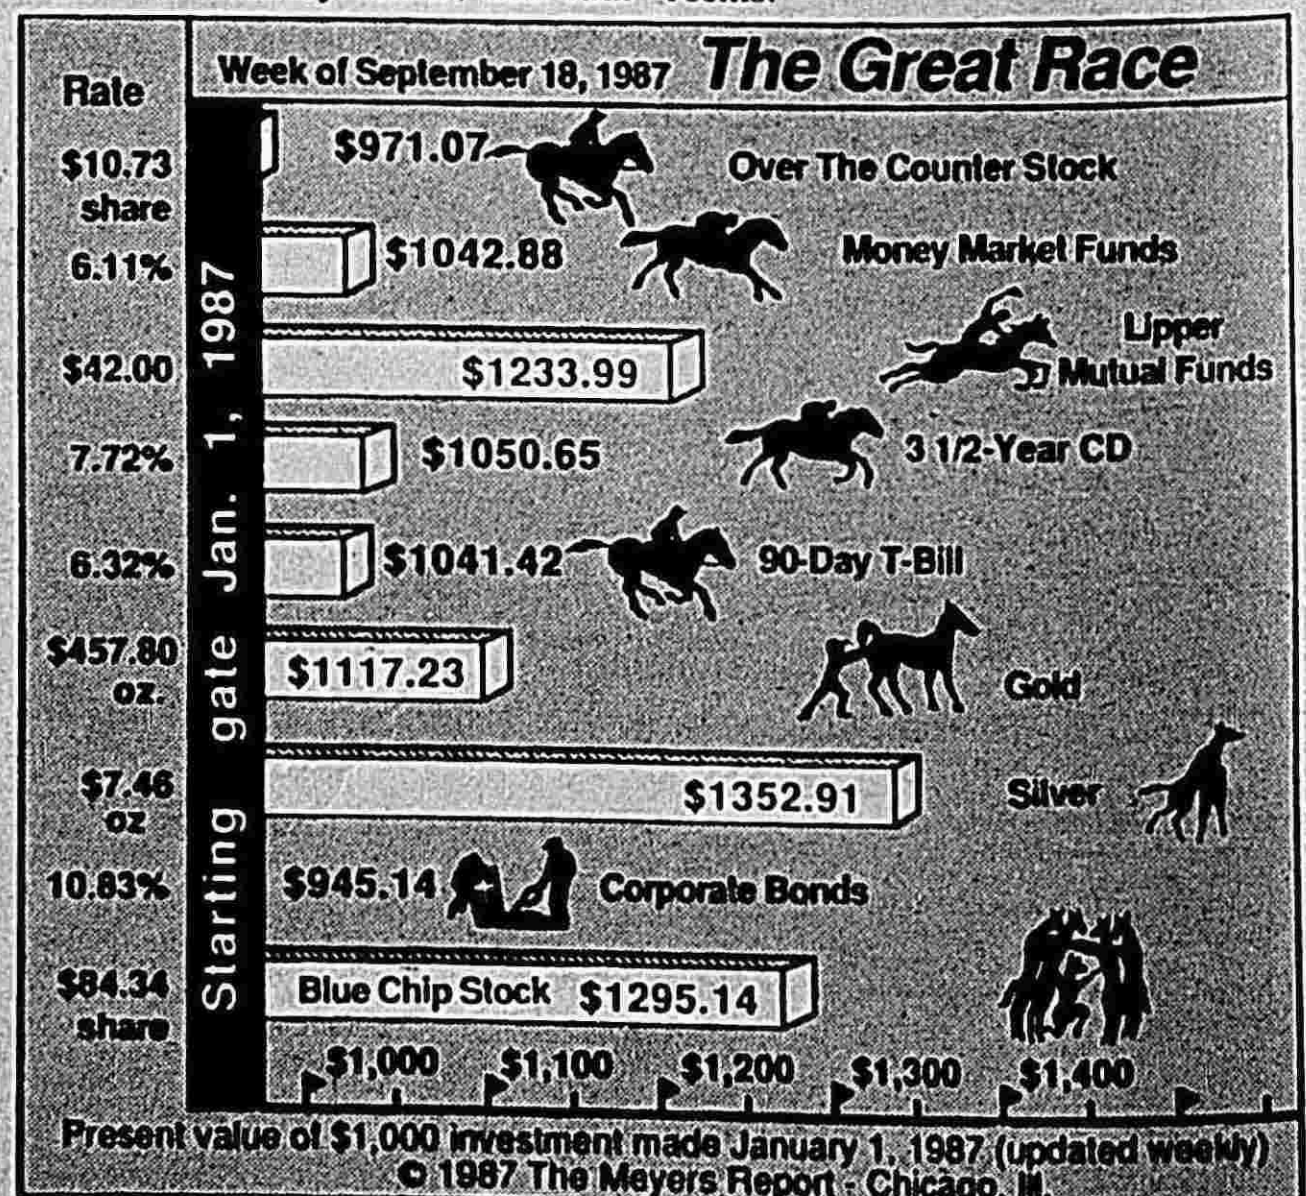

Cambridge Country garden homes can also be built on homesites as detached residents. "This type of housing makes owning your own home truly affordable," said Brown. "Now buyers can find a three-bedroom single family home for less than $100,000."

The Gresham is a ranch home with two bedrooms and an optional family room, priced from $88,490. Vaulted ceilings accent the living room, dining area, eat-in kitchen and both bedrooms. The master bedroom has a walk-in closet and private access to the full bath. Extra storage space is provided over the bath and walk-in closet. The optional family room, which can be finished with a fireplace and skylights, adjoins the kitchen and breakfast area. An in-home laundry center, half bath and attached garage contribute to the home's convenience.

Priced from $92,990, the Grenville is a two-story home with three bedrooms and one-and-a-half to two-and-a-half baths. The main foyer, served by a coat closet, half bath, access to the attached garage and in-home laundry center, opens to the formal living and dining rooms.

Survey uncovers problem areas for small business

Small businesses expect general business conditions to remain the same or improve slightly in the second half of the year.

This is one of the key findings of a nationwide survey of small businesses conducted by Quill Corp. of Lincolnshire.

At the same time, these businesses say, many forces—including tax changes, corporate mergers, and federal government disinterest in the needs of small businesses—will have a negative impact.

Three hundred seven small businesses responded to the Quill survey between November, 1986 and February, 1987. Businesses ranged from professional to industrial and technical fields. Responding companies have, on average, 17 employees with 85 percent employing 20 or fewer.

Seeking attitudes on tax reform, economic conditions, liability insurance, human resources and government, the Quill survey found that the new tax law, corporate mergers and federal government disinterest in small business needs, all are perceived to be potential problems for small businesses through the end of 1987.

Concerning tax reform, more than 50 percent of the respondents believe it will have a negative impact on their businesses (30 percent believe tax reform will have no effect; 12 percent expect a positive impact on their businesses). Changes in the rate of depreciation will cause the most problems for corporations. And the repeal of the investment tax credit is expected to have the greatest negative impact on partnerships and proprietorships. Rule changes for retirement and profit sharing plans are the least worrisome to all responding companies.

Concerning economic conditions, respondents see possible increases in sales, prices and profits, but no changes in number of people employed or capital expenditures. Industrial respondents were most bullish on higher prices, while the Southeast corner of the country was most bearish on end-of-the-year economic conditions.

Economic factors expected to have the greatest impact on small business through the end of 1987 are (in descending order of importance), insurance costs and availability, heightened competition, government regulation and labor costs. Interest rates appeared last in importance. More than 68 percent of respondents believe that the cost and availability of liability insurance is having a "slight or great negative effect on their businesses."

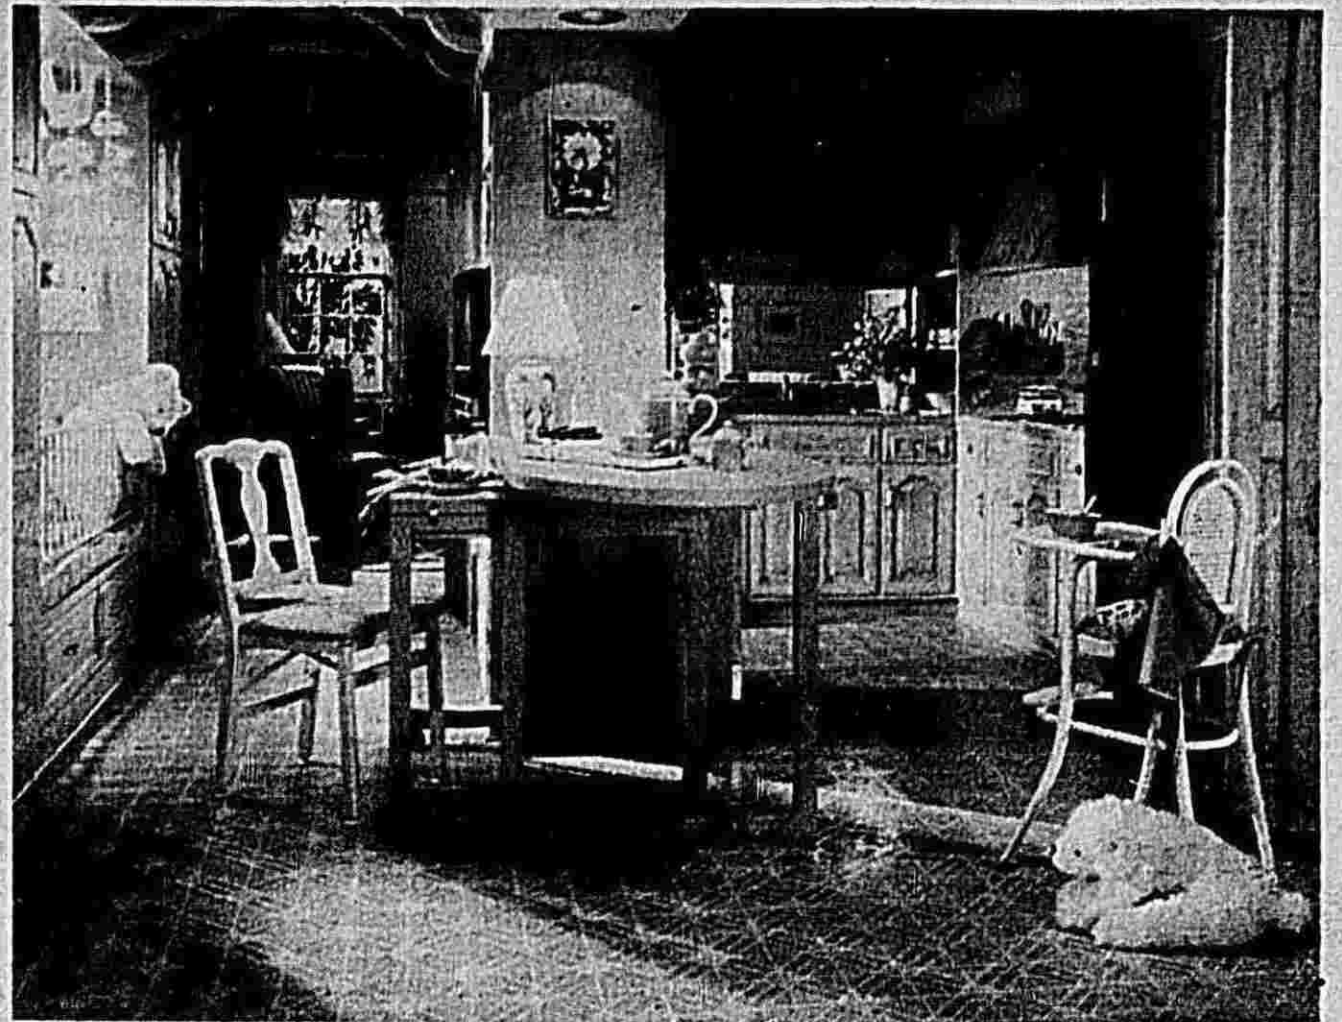

Additionally, over 75 percent of all respondents believe that "merger mania" is having a negative effect on small business.

Concerning human resources, more than 80 percent of the respondents report no substance abuse at their own workplaces, yet more than 98 percent believe substance abuse is having a negative effect on business overall. Further, respondents see somewhat of a lack of qualified people available to fill their job vacancies, and strongly believe that potential employees come out of school with less than adequate skills.

Almost 56 percent of respondents approve of the president's overall performance, while 57 percent disapprove of the performance of Congress. (In the Southeast, 79 percent disapprove of Congress' performance.) Further, more than 50 percent of all respondents believe that the federal administration and Congress pay little attention to the needs of small businesses.

NIMC honors Knudsen

Northern Illinois Medical Center's Martha Knudsen, LPN, may very well hold an unofficial world's record for number of children held on a lap or hugged.

Knudsen, August Employee of the Month at NIMC, has been caring for children since the age of 15 in one capacity or another, and although she's never had a child of her own, she's done a lot of mothering.

Knudsen has been at the McHenry hospital for six years, working nights, primarily in pediatrics.

She has six step-children, Billy, Bonnie, Robin, Jerry, Connie and Clayton, and six grand-children.

Knudsen says there is never a night in pediatrics when all of the children are asleep; there is always at least one who needs attention.

"I love doing it because I love kids," she says. "That's why I work in pediatrics."

Flood damage to homes may not be insured

by GARY S. MEYERS

If you are one of the thousands of waterlogged American homeowners who has recently pumped out a flooded basement, chances are that the damage done to the house was not covered by a basic homeowner's insurance policy.

But there may be a way to avoid getting deluged again with the costs of replacing carpets and walls destroyed by flood, even though standard home insurance isn't much help.

Insurance experts advise eligible residents of flood-prone areas to buy special federally subsidized flood insurance to compensate for harm to property caused by surface water, sewer backup and seepage.

The possibility that water damage will occur in such threatened areas is so great that insurance companies do not offer policies on their own, according to Bob Schultz, president of the Illinois Insurance Information Service.

Flood insurance is available only in communities that qualify for the federal government's National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP). An estimated 2.5 million of these special policies are in force in 17,000 locales nationwide, but still, many homeowners who are eligible have not taken advantage of them, Schultz said.

"The National Flood Insurance Program is an alternative to private insurance," said Ellen Varas, spokesperson for NFIP. "We offer a way for the government to provide coverage to homeowners at risk at a reasonable cost."

The program also aims to encourage communities to establish safe building practices in areas prone to deluges, thereby reducing the need for flood insurance.

More than 200 private insurance companies sell the government-backed policies, providing maximum flood insurance coverage of $185,000 for the structure and $60,000 for the contents of a home at an average annual premium of $235.

When a community first joins NFIP, residents can buy limited amounts of insurance at a standard rate. Then federal authorities conduct a study of the area to determine rates according to the degree of flood risk to which each building is exposed.

But coverage is available for almost any building and its contents. Interested homeowners may check their city, village or, in some cases, county offices to find out whether their communities participate. Also, they may ask their insurance agents, or call the NFIP toll-free hotline at (800) 638-6620.

If you do not live in a federally designated flood area, but are still vulnerable to water damage, it may be possible to supplement your regular homeowner's insurance with extra-cost endorsements, or riders, providing additional coverage for sewer backups and sump pump failure.

These riders specifically exclude flood damage due to seepage or structural damage, like water coming in through a broken basement window.

If your insurance agent says his company does not provide this coverage, shop around. Despite a slightly higher premium, consumer advocates say the cost may well be worth it.

Through State Farm Insurance, homeowners can buy a $35 endorsement that pays for water damage from sewer backup or sump pump failure affecting the furnace, hot water heater, clothes washer, wall-to-wall carpeting, or "even Oriental rugs," said David Hurst, a Bloomington spokesman for the company.

But he added that seepage is not covered unless it results from sump pump failure.

Chubb Group, based in Warren, N.J., provides similar insurance through its Masterpiece Deluxe Policy, said John Miner, national marketing manager for the firm.

The owner of a $150,000 suburban house would pay an annual premium of $500 to $600 for the comprehensive Chubb policy, with coverage for sewer backup and sump pump failure, but again, not seepage.

"Chubb Group caters to affluent homeowners who want to be covered for large losses and are not concerned with nickels and dimes when paying the premium," Miner said. One Highland Park homeowner last year collect a $38,000 loss through Chubb after a sewer backup forced four feet of water into his basement.

If your home has suffered heavy water damage, but you don't own flood insurance, you may get relief if President Reagan declares your neighborhood or suburb a disaster area. This will qualify you for low-interest disaster relief loans and other aid.

Another place to seek assistance is the local real estate tax assessor's office. Homeowners may be eligible for assessment reductions if their property has suffered substantial structural damage because of flooding.

PODIATRY--STARTING OFF ON THE RIGHT FOOT

Most people don't take their feet very seriously. Yet, for millions of Americans, the greatest source of daily pain is their feet. The human foot is an engineering wonder which serves us with exceptional faithfulness and fortitude, however, the foot is susceptible to a long series of disorders--disorders that range from very minor to very serious.

Podiatrists are the only medical specialists trained to care exclusively for the foot and foot related problems for all ages. Your podiatrist's educational background includes a college degree and graduation from an accredited college of podiatric medicine, this course of study takes 8 years to complete. Additional training in a hospital based residency takes approximately 1 to 2 years to complete.

Your podiatrist evaluation takes into account much more than your feet. Many systemic disorders such as diabetes, heart, lung, kidney, and circulatory disease may appear on the foot earlier than elsewhere in the body.

Your podiatrist evaluation will include a medical history, physical examination, and in some cases, x-ray and special laboratory tests. Once a diagnosis is made, your podiatrist will begin an individualized treatment program which may include medications, orthotics (corrective devices used to correct skeletal malalignment), palliative treatment, and/or major or minor surgery.

Common problems which podiatrists treat include ingrown toenails, warts, calluses, bunions and hammertoes, painful arches, pediatric conditions which include intoeing and flat feet, ankle sprains and fractures. Dr. Lee M. Tisa, with a new office in the Heritage Professional Building, 800 North Main Street in Antioch, phone 395-0085 is available to help you with any of your foot related problems. Dr. Tisa can counsel you on which podiatric treatments may be necessary. Dr. Tisa's credentials include Assistant Director of Residency Training in Podiatric Medicine and Surgery at American International Hospital; Board Eligible American Board of Podiatric Surgery; Associate American College of Foot Surgeons; published numerous articles in the Journal of Foot Surgery.

If you are one of those people who have been procrastinating about the care of your feet, it's time to consult with Dr. Tisa. Remember, no part of the body receives the physical punishment that your feet are required to take.

Waikiki not the only beach in Hawaii

By JIM WARNKEN, President, North Star Travel

For those not familiar with Hawaii, Waikiki is a beach in the city of Honolulu on the island of Oahu. Oahu is the most visited island of the Hawaiian islands. Waikiki Beach is often the only beach many tourists to Hawaii ever see as it is where the vast majority of hotels are located.

This island offers a vast variety of beaches other than Waikiki, one of which should appeal to any visitor.

The one I found to be the most beautiful, though often the most crowded, is Hanauma Bay Beach. It can be found by taking Kalaniana'ole Hwy. and going east for about three miles from Waikiki. Daily bus tours are offered from most hotels to this beach for about $7 to $10 and include snorkeling equipment and lunch.

Snorkeling off this beach is quite popular, since it is also an underwater fish preserve. Colorful reef fish will literally eat out of your hand. (I found them to be quite fond of Birdseye frozen peas.)

For the more adventurous, Sandy Beach is the place to try body surfing. You'll find why they call it Sandy Beach the first time you try body surfing and discover more sand in your swim suit than on the beach! Be careful, though. While a ride atop a six-foot wave can be a real thrill, this is not Great America—you can get hurt. Take it slow and respect the power of the sea. Sandy Beach is about two miles past the town of Hanauma.

Makapua Beach, across from Sea Life Park is also good for body surfing. You'll find a life guard on duty here, but again, exercise caution if the waves are high as they quite often are in the winter months.

For some real wave action, try the north shore of Oahu. Here you'll find the famous surfing beaches of Banz Pipeline and Sunset. Unless you are an expert surfer, be content to sit on the beach and watch. The waves here are known to reach 25 to 30 feet. You'll see surfing like you see in the movies. In fact, this is the site of many world class surfing events.

For those who prefer calmer waters and fewer crowds, try Pokoi Bay south of Mapaha, just off H-1. The water is calm, crystal clear and excellent for swimming or snorkeling. A life guard is usually on duty and restrooms are available.

Oahu's beaches are as varied as the many islands which make up the state of Hawaii. But that's another story.

GRANT TOWNSHIP ASSESSMENT
ROLL FOR 1987

KENNETH L. LARSON
SUPERVISOR OF ASSESSMENTS
OFFICIAL ASSESSMENT LIST:

This publication is the official notice to property owners of the 1987 changes in assessed value of land and improvements in the Township of Grant. The 1987 assessments as published herein are those determined by the Assessor and/or the Supervisor of Assessments.

It is the duty of the Assessor to assess all taxable property on a uniform basis of valuation so that the assessed values of the various properties are a just and equal assessment of such properties according to law.

The assessment roll recording the values of property determines only the distribution of the total tax load among the individual property owners. The assessor of the Township and/or the Supervisor of Assessments has no control over the amount of taxes levied, nor the public expenditures. The amount of these assessed values does not determine the amount of your tax bill. The established tax rate does that. The Assessor does not make the rate; he merely finds the value of your property.

EQUALIZATION

The following printed assessments, as well as all other assessments in the Township, are shown at 33.33% of market value, having been equalized to that level by the Supervisor of Assessments, who has applied a factor of 1.0558 to all values except those assessed under the provision of Secs. 20a, 20g-1, 20k, and 44.1 of the Revenue Act of 1939, as amended. Application of the township equalization factor represents a 5.58 percentage increase in assessments.

To determine the market value of your property, add the total of the land and the total of the buildings and divide the result by 0.3333. If it appears that the resulting number is higher than the market value of the property, you may be over-assessed. If the resulting number is less than your opinion of market value, the assessment may be low.

ARRANGEMENT OF LIST

If you live in an incorporated area (city or village), your property is listed under the name of your city or village, which will be in alphabetical order. Each street within the city or village is also arranged in alphabetical order. Property owners living on the same street will be listed as follows:

First-vacant property or improved property with no street number

Second-property with street number listed in numerical order (may be approximate)

If you live in an unincorporated area, the property is listed alphabetically by post office and street name. Then, property without street numbers will be listed first followed by numbered properties in numerical order.

INFORMATION ON ASSESSMENTS

Any property owner who has any question in regard to the assessment of his property should call the local Township Assessor's office. This publication does not reflect reductions for Homestead Exemptions, disabled Veterans Exemptions, nor Senior Homestead Exemptions. Note that land value and improvement value appear separately and should be added together to arrive at a total assessed value. Certain of the values published will have been reduced by a Homestead Improvement Exemption, which under present law the reduction in assessed value could be as much as $10,000 below the actual assessment. These values are subject to a State adjustment factor certified to the County Clerk by the Department of Revenue. Any property owner who objects to the amount of his assessment should file a complaint in writing with the Board of Review from June First to September 10, 1987, or until thirty (30) days after publication, whichever is later. Complaint forms may be obtained by telephoning 360-6609, or by written request to the Supervisor of Assessments, County Building, Waukegan, Illinois 60085-4339.

Questions regarding the grid system used in determining address numbers should be directed to the Lake County Map Department, whose telephone number is 360-6373.

Improved election judge training under way

"The fall session of election judge training classes is underway throughout the county," reported Lake County Clerk Linda Hess, "but with a beefed up schedule more in line with the needs of election consolidation responsibilities. We're adding more classes, improving those we have and have even added a Saturday morning class as an experiment," she added.

With the new curriculum, two sets of classes are offered--Basic and Update. The first class, "Basic," covers in detail all the ins and outs of being an election judge. This class is similar to past classes, only now an actual polling place, complete with voting booths, registration cards and all the supplies will be utilized. The class consists of two, two and one-half hour sessions and more time is spent focusing on the problems confronting a judge on election day.

The second class, "Update," will be for experienced judges who have gone through the Basic class. It will be a short refresher course held before each election to review the specific procedures.

Training will still be conducted at five convenient locations throughout the county as a way to encourage judges to attend. Courses will be held at: College of Lake County in Grayslake; West Ridge Recreation Center in Highland Park; Elia Twp. Hall in Lake Zurich; and the College of Lake County Lakeshore campus and Waukegan West High School.

Although there is no enrollment charge, Hess stressed that judges must pre-register with the College of Lake County. They can do so by calling (312) 223-1111.

CLC board, teachers union reach contract agreement

The College of Lake County Board of Trustees and the College of Lake County Federation of Teachers (CLCFT) are working under a new contract.

The agreement was reached after six months of talks between board and union teams. The contract, which applies to the community college's 173 full-time faculty members, runs through 1990.

"We are pleased that what has become a long and arduous bargaining process has resulted in a three-year settlement. The college and faculty can continue the finest educational programs and array of related services to the community. This agreement underscores the continuing good relationship between the board and union," Richard Anderson, CLC board president, said.

Union president Jerry Kroll said: "the process of good faith bargaining, upheld by faculty and board negotiating teams, has contributed significantly to forging a solid working relationship with the Board of Trustees and the CLC administration.

The two sides reached the agreement Sept. 14.

The agreement provides for a salary increase of 5.25 percent for 1987-88, 5.75 percent for 1988-89 and 7.35 percent for 1989-90. A flexible benefit program was introduced.

Enrollment up at CLC, highest since 1983

For the fourth consecutive semester, the College of Lake County has posted an enrollment increase with a total of 12,782 students enrolled for the fall semester. This figure is up 6 percent from last fall's enrollment of 12,056.

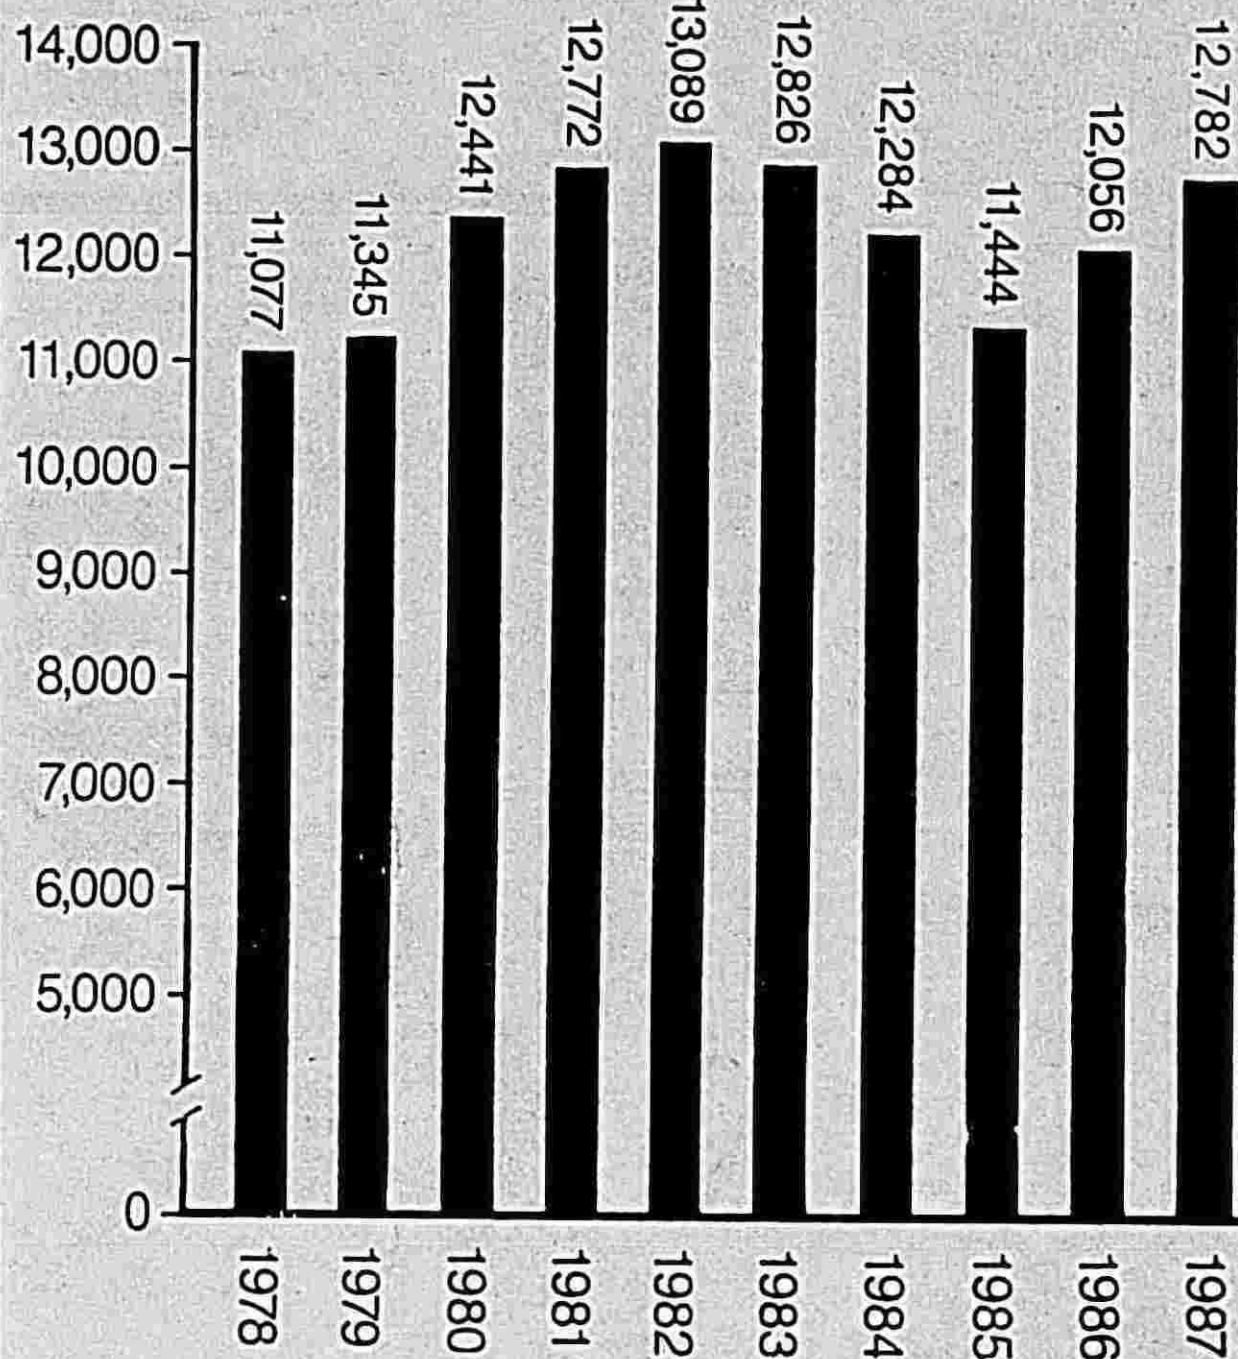

There are more students attending CLC than at any time since 1983.

The college's Lakeshore Campus in Waukegan helped boost those figures with an enrollment of 1,706, the highest since the college opened it as a branch facility in 1981. Enrollment at Lakeshore last fall was 1,593.

"We're pleased with the overall increase and particularly the increase at Lakeshore," said CLC President Daniel LaVista. "It's also worth noting that over half of the students at Lakeshore this fall are enrolled in transfer and career education classes. We will continue to provide quality education in the traditional programs as well as Adult Basis Education and vocational and employment skills training at our Lakeshore facility in order to best serve the shoreline communities."

These figures, considered the official enrollment statistics for the 1987 fall semester, are based on the number of students enrolled at CLC on the tenth day of classes. The number of women attending CLC increased by 10 percent to 7,459, up from 6,802 last fall. Women account for 58 percent of the students this fall. The number of men increased by just 1 percent for a total of 5,323.

Jordan, Di Marco win PM&L's awards

by GLORIA DAVIS

Eighty eight guests attended PM&L Theater's biggest event of the year, the theater group's annual awards banquet, held this year at the Tower Room in Antioch on Saturday.

The attractive room was decorated with flowers raised and arranged by PM&L veteran Tom Hausman. Frank DiMarco and Roz Trusky were the official hosts and Debbie Beno was the most able chairman of the awards dinner.

An entertaining skit opened the program of the evening and was followed by the awards presentations.

Peter Thelen presented Colleen Jordan with the female coup of the year, the award for the best leading actress for her role in "Angel Street."

Jane Miles, last year's best musical actress, handed Di Marco the top actor's award for his portrayal of the hilariously funny slave in "A Funny Thing Happened On the Way to the Forum."

There was a tie for the award for the best actor in a major supporting role won by both Lou Jones ("Angel Street") and Mark Badtke ("Forum").

PM&L favorite, Lillian Allen was voted the best actress in a major supporting role for her role in "Come Blow Your Horn," while Randy Miles ("Forum") and Jamie Seputis ("Angel Street") accepted awards for the best actor and actress in a minor supporting role.

James Dalgaard took home the award for the youth performer of the year, accepting his trophy from Jones.

Hank Apostol's set for "Angel Street" was recognized as number one, as were the costumes for "Forum," done by Donna Badtke and Alice Schesle.

Special awards went to Di Marco and Jim Nelson for the best production support; Aileen Biel for her work as president of the organization; Gerry Di Marco, Scott Kiederlen, Trusky, Beno and Gerry and Mickey Mandel for their continuous service to the theater group.

The popular consensus was that the top show of the season was "Forum" with awards going to Donna Badtke, best director and Nancy Thomas, best stage manager. These awards were presented by past president of the group, Hausman.

See pictures of the awards in other parts of the paper.

14 lions due to arrive
for Libertyville promo

"Anybody can go into a cage," says Baron Julius von Uhl—and he should know, having been a lion tamer since he was a youth in his native Hungary. "But let's not forget," he adds, "the trick is coming out."

Von Uhl, who has been coming out of cages for 42 years, will bring 12 of his cats—full grown lions, plus two cubs—to Libertyville for four days beginning Wednesday, Sept. 30.

They will be the focus of a Chrysler/AMC auto sales push at Liberty Buick/Jeep/Renault/Yugo, at 1000 E. Park Ave., where owner Sidney Oko promises not only the excitement of a circus but free balloons, popcorn and gifts—plus bargain prices on Chrysler-AMC autos.

The two-week old cubs will be making their public debut when they reach the Chicago metropolitan area. These four-pound cubs will grow to 150 pounds within a year and should reach a full grown weight of close to 500 pounds.

Life with the von Uhl family is not an easy one. The Baron and his new wife, married in a ceremony inside a cage with six lion attendants in Detroit last

'Doubles' Chock full of lockerroom humor

by TOM WITOM

The health club is supposed to be a sanctuary from life's traumas, a place to work off tension.

But in "Doubles," the David Wiltse comedy getting its midwest premiere at Pheasant Run Theatre, St. Charles, the tennis club is a pressure cooker.

job as a stockbroker when he overzealously misappropriates $800,000.

And Guy (Jim Butchart) is an outsider, the only non-Jew in the group. He plays the philosophical sports writer who feels dutybound to share self-improvement suggestions to everyone he encounters "strictly in the interest of

Critic's Choice In... Lakeland

Members forget to check their troubles at the front door.

Ostensibly, the four principal characters gather at their favorite retreat once a week for tennis. More importantly, the night out with the boys provides an outlet for their pent-up frustrations.

Behind the horseplay and wisecracks are four men facing a serious crisis in their lives: encroaching middle age. As "Doubles" progresses, each seems to gain a little insight into where he stands in terms of values. "We really look out only for No. 1 and just pretend to care about others," one observes.

Frederic Stone makes a terrific Lennie, the loudmouth storekeeper who feels stuck in his career and marriage. Peter Siragusa is convincing as Arnie who fancies himself as a ladies man—even though his wife is not so understanding.

Then there's laid-back Georfe (James McCance), the walking hypochondriac whose never operating at 100 percent efficiency except in his helpful, constructive criticism."

For shallowness, it's a tossup between the other two minor characters in the play. Barbara Allyn Woods plays a stereotype dumb blond role to the hilt, and Mark Grimsich, as Chuck, makes a solid contribution with his limited lines ("Hi, good to see ya, how're ya doin'?"")

"Doubles" is filled with lockerroom humor—some of it below the belt—and it's staccato-paced from start to finish. Some of the jokes are old, but the struggling going on behind the happy facade emerges in a fresh way. It would be unusual not to find something (or a few somethings) which strikes close to home in this spirited presentation.

Produced by Gilda Moss, "Doubles" is scheduled to run through Dec. 20.

Nelson Reports For Duty

Rock Tracks

By Rob Ferrus

Coinciding with the success of the Warner Brothers film, the Atlantic Records Original Motion Picture Soundtrack of The Lost Boys is enjoying a spectacular break-out in national sales. At major retail stores around the country, the album ranks among the top five sellers. As it approaches the gold mark in the U.S., the LP is taking huge jumps up the national charts, bulleting into the top 40 after entering the pop album listings little more than one month ago. The album features INXS and Jimmy Barnes' "Good Times," Lou Gramm' "Lost In The Shadows," and tracks by Echo and The Bunnymen and Roger Daltrey, just to name a few.

The upcoming single from The Thompson Twins deals with a subject which I have nothing against, but which decency groups don't like: women's sexuality. To Thompson Twins' lyricist and group member Alannah Currie, the female sexual nature "has nothing to do with passiveness and cosmetics. It's really dirty and animal, and that's what it should be. That animal power women have can frighten people. It's why women used to get burnt at the stake."

Despite the current anti-sexual hysteria fostered by events like the AIDS epidemic, Thompson Twin Currie feels that sexual passion is what women have to strive for and then maintain. The song "Bush Baby" gives a pretty good idea of the powers Currie feels sexual passion confers on its possessor: "Bush baby with her telegraph skin, she can read my mind and I can't win."

Yes, Lynyrd Skynyrd is back and on the road. I'll have the good fortune of seeing them in Cincinnati on October 1st. The band is: Gary Rossington, Allen Collins, and Ed King (original band member) on lead guitars; Leon Wilkerson on bass guitar; Billy Powell on piano; Artime Pyle on drums and Johnny Van Zandt (Ronnie's younger brother) on lead vocals. Sounds good.

Woodstock Opera House mecca for performers

These are the groups presenting events at the Woodstock Opera House this season.

The Townsquare Players, Inc. is launching its 20th season with a focus on families and relationships, including one's relationship to that celebrity beagle, "Snoopy."

Other productions sponsored by Townsquare Players, Inc. will be "You Can't Take It With You," in November and "The Boyfriend" in March.

The McHenry County Defenders received third place in the sixth annual Governor's Home Town Awards competition on June 10. This award recognized the Defenders for many volunteer community activities and recycling programs.

The William Tell Productions was founded by Ed Hall of Wonder Lake. Hall is a professional musician, as well as a person involved in the community.

His main purpose in producing concerts at the Woodstock Opera House is to bring fine music to the Woodstock area, and to introduce musicians to the fine audiences of the Woodstock Opera House.

Among his many concerts produced here, he has also produced eight "Benefit Concerts for the Special Olympics" to help support the Special Olympics program in McHenry County.

The Performing Arts Series of the Woodstock Opera House is being sponsored by the Woodstock Opera House itself to promote and present international and local attractions in various fields: theatre, ballet, dance and music.

It is designed to enhance the already outstanding cultural programming at the Woodstock Opera House.

The Woodstock Musical Theatre Company is a not-for-profit corporation established to provide local talent the opportunity to offer artistic theatrical productions for the viewing pleasure of area residents and to promote community theatre as an art form.

As one of the two resident theatre companies, the Woodstock Musical Theatre Company produces two musicals annually and contributes to the development of the physical plant of the Opera House.

WTMC's 1987-88 season will include productions of "Bye, Bye Birdie" and "Sweet Charity."

The Woodstock Fine Arts Assn. is an organization of volunteers in support of the Arts and the Opera House. Weekends find their membership engaged in conducting guided tours of the Opera House for visitors.

Their programming efforts include a three-concert classical music series and a school children's performance series which introduces students throughout the area to the joys of the performing arts.

Woodstock Fine Arts Assn. also sponsors a lecture series entitled Creative Living Series which introduces many outstanding speakers to this area.

Woodfest was incorporated in 1980 as a not-for-profit organization to bring professional theatre to the Woodstock Opera House during the summer seasons.

The goal is to provide entertainment that attracts people to Woodstock and to expand the use of the Opera House. Those who attend the summer performances enjoy the theatre and the historic Woodstock Square.

WoodFest has produced critically acclaimed musicals and plays, including "Spokesong," "Strider," "Ladies in Waiting," "Baker's Wife," "Painting Churches," "Cotton Patch Gospel," "The Wake of Jamey Foster," "Salford Road," and the 1987 "Woodstock Mozart Festival."

Other groups that will be producing events at the Woodstock Opera House in the near future are: The Judith Svalander Dance Theatre, founded in 1979, is the resident dance company of the Woodstock Opera House and is based in Crystal Lake.

A repertory of ballet, modern, jazz and character, performed by a company of 20 young men and women, is planned for two different programs each year at the Woodstock Opera House.

This season will feature the company in two different programs: coming on Dec. 18, 19 and 20 the company will be presenting its "Sixth Annual Holiday Presentation of Dance" which will include new exciting excerpts from Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite." Watch also for their exciting "Spring Presentation" on May 6 and 7, 1988.

Expect 14 lions week, travel constantly in a bus they have converted to sleeping quarters.

Because Linda von Uhl has been an assistant in the act for the past six years, she is no stranger to taking care of a "family" that requires 250 pounds of raw beef and chicken every day.

"We buy the meat 2,000 pounds at a time," Mrs. von Uhl said. "You can imagine the size of the freezer we have built into the truck."

Von Uhl is a many faceted entertainer. Besides being a lion trainer, he is an Olympic riding coach and trains horses for his traveling circus act. Before beginning his current tour of auto dealerships, von Uhl was performing with his own, one-ring circus, Aladdin's Magic Circus, in London, Ontario.

He is also a Christian minister in Cedar Key, Fla. and has dreams of building a non-denominational village church there with the proceeds of his traveling circus act.

Von Uhl says his cats are "trained but not tamed. Lions are never tame no matter how docile they might appear to a crowd," he warns. "You can never turn your back on them because you might not like the surprise." The animals he will bring to the Chicago area range in age from two to five years and from 300 to 500 pounds.

Von Uhl has performed in the Shrine circus at Chicago's Medinah Temple and played a couple of seasons in the Baraboo, Wis. Circus World.

He says the newborn cubs are tractable enough to be welcome guests in children's hospitals and he plans to schedule such visits as time allows during his visit to Libertyville.

Hawthorn Center to fete kids art

Anyone who has an eye for beautiful and intriguing arts and crafts, Hawthorn Center is the place to be when more than 125 artisans and craftspeople gather to display their creativity in the annual Arts & Craft Faire, Oct. 9-11.

An outstanding variety of categories will be represented including: watercolors and acrylics, pottery, metal sculpture, stained glass, woodwork, jewelry, fiber construction and photography and more. To enhance a most intriguing event will be the work of miniaturist Jeff Steele of Libertyville and his students.

The kids and "young at heart" will be delighted with the potpourri of arts and crafts on the Northwalk, where the Kids Stuff exhibitors will display everything for fun to fancy.

A special sale of art and crafts for "children only" ages three to 13 will be available at piggy bank prices of $1 to $5 during this three day event.

Many of the items presented in this children's section have been donated by the exhibitors of the Arts and Craft Faire. Proceeds from the sale of these items will benefit the Grove School in Lake Forest, an educational treatment center for the multi-handicapped. This is a show as beautiful as the season itself.

"We worked years for our money, now we're making our money work for us."

"We sold our old home and bought our beautiful new manor home on a tax-free exchange. Then we invested the balance — also tax-free. It was the smartest move we ever made, especially since 1987's tax reform left mortgage interest as the last major tax deduction.

But smartest of all is our big new 3 bedroom home with vaulted ceiling, fully applianced kitchen, laundry room, patio, and huge master suite. Plus, maintenance-free living gives us plenty of time to enjoy the swimming pool, clubhouse, and friendly peacefulness of this established community."

To video or not to video, that is the tape!

☒ YES
☐ NO

If you were to be marooned on a desert island and could bring along any three video tapes, what would they be? I would wager that this is a question that no one has asked you yet. True, the selection of a video or two, (or three) would make one's stay on a desert island more enjoyable, especially if one were equipped with a VCR, a monitor, and some sort of power supply. Perhaps, while we're wishing here, we could pass up the video tape and go directly to an earth station, catch the most recent Bears game and forget the whole thing. I wonder what sort of snacks are available on Pitcan? At any rate, here are my selections:

MUTINY ON THE BOUNTY: Preferably the 1930's version with Charles Laughton and Clark Gable. Yes, I know its black and white and (heaven forbid) Ted Turner hasn't had it computer colorized yet, but that makes no difference to me. I love every scratchy second of it and, who knows, maybe I could pick up a survival tip or two for living on a desert island.

LIFEBOAT: This 1940's Alfred Hitchcock classic is another favorite of those needing some info on oceanic survival. In this film is a refreshingly different way to serve sea bird. Besides, I must admit to being one of those who think Marlene Dietrich is fine wet or dry.

MOBY DICK: The only full color pick of my lot. This '50's monument stars Gregory Peck and a very young Richard Basehart. Directed by John Huston and based on Melville's novel by the same name, this story is the only convincing portrayal (that I know of) of a 60 foot sperm whale ever attempted in film. By comparison, Spielberg's 'Jaws' is a wet wimp. And the whalers? It's a good thing Greenpeace never had a chance to cross paths this time. 'I'll sail perdition itself' I believe one line goes. I'm afraid Jaws wouldn't have stood a chance if he had worked too hard on Captain Ahab's nerves. Seriously, 30 years later and its still a great film.

Three video tapes would probably get old very fast on a desert island, even these three. Perhaps I could get one of those self-help learning cassettes available entitled, 'Ship Building, Navigation, And Seamanship For The Complete Idiot'. That would probably have to be my fourth selection. I wonder if mylar can be used for catching fish?

Raiders of the lost videos, part II

☒ YES
☐ NO

(The following is a continuation of a previous column which recommended certain movies, available at various area video stores, which tend to be overlooked but are worth checking out.)

2nd only to 'Taxi Driver', this is Jodie Foster's most interesting movie.

CARNY: An offbeat character study about the unusual relationship that develops between a teenage runaway (Jodie Foster) and the 2 carnival hustlers (Gary Busey, Robbie Robertson) she becomes involved with. The characters are all well developed and made very interesting by the fact that we're never quite sure how they really feel about each other- and neither are they.

The film is also a fascinating behind-the-scenes look at life inside a traveling carnival. (Whether the picture it paints of carnival life is truly realistic or not is hard to say and, as far as I'm concerned, irrelevant.)

LIAR'S MOON: Set in a dusty rural town around the time of the depression, this is the story of a romance between a poor boy and a rich girl. Naturally, the girl's parents do not approve and are determined to break them up. As the story unfolds, however, it becomes apparent that several people are hiding a dark secret from the past that is threatened by this relationship.

It develops into not only a love story but a suspenseful tale of deception that contains a surprising double twist. It is not as predictable as it sounds.

The film stars Matt Dillon in what I believe is his most likable performance, and Cindy Fisher as his girl friend. It also features a supporting cast of talented character actors like country singer Hoyt Axton, Yvonne De Carlo (best known as Lily Munster), and Christopher Connelly.

A BOY AND HIS DOG: Do not be misled by the title. This is not a Lassie movie. Set in the 21st century, in a post-holocaust world, it details the exploits of a nomadic adventurer and his companion, a telepathic dog. Based on a story by Harlan Ellison, the tale of their unusual relationship contains much humor as well as drama.

It is especially noteworthy because it stars a young Don Johnson in an interesting role, long before the character of Sonny Crockett rocketed him to stardom.

Older artisans profiting from national craft shop

The Elder Craftsmen's retail shop and craft training program have identified and benefited thousands of older artisans throughout the nation. The group's retail store and training studio provide an opportunity for senior citizens to make a contribution and to enhance their individual talents.

The work of the Elder Craftsmen over the last 30 years can best be summed up in two words: dedication and commitment. From its inception in 1955, senior citizens have dedicated their talents to the Elder Craftsmen, and in turn the organization has made a commitment to enriching the lives of the nation's elderly.

The most visible evidence of this organization's work is the shop in New York City. The shop sells a wide variety of products designed and crafted by more than 900 seniors nationwide on a consignment basis, with 60 percent of the retail price passed along to the craftsman.

The store stocks more than 6,000 items, all of exceptional quality, ranging from toys, infant, children's and adult's garments, to practical and decorative products for the home.

Items sold at the store are also produced through The Elder Craftsmen's home-crafts program. Highly skilled older artisans are commissioned to make popular shop items with payment made immediately for completed work, upon delivery to the store. The program is designed to help meet some of the financial pressures felt by many senior Americans today.

To participate in the program, craftspeople over 60 are invited to bring or ship samples of their products to The Elder Craftsmen Selection Committee, 851 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10021. The staff and the selection committee can offer guidance of appropriate pricing, styles, materials and products.

Craft training workshops are further evidence of the organization's commitment to senior citizens. A wide variety of craft workshops, from jewelry design to print-making, are conducted at the organization's training studio. Here, teachers, volunteers and members of the New York City senior centers are instructed in various crafts so they can go back to their individual communities and share the craft training they have acquired.

These training efforts are funded primarily by the New York City Dept. for the Aging, and the services are provided without charge to the trainees.

In conjunction with the training workshops, the Elder Craftsmen also reaches out to senior citizens through its book, "Increase Your Craft Sales! A Guide for Senior Programs." This comprehensive manual contains information on craft sales, record-keeping techniques, and scheduling suggestions. With the assistance of a grant from the Exxon Corp., the book is distributed to organized groups nationwide. Copies are available for $4.50 plus $1 handling fee by writing to The Elder Craftsmen, Dept. SCW, 135 East 65 St., New York, N.Y., 10021.

Finally, their traveling educational exhibit is yet another vehicle assisting senior citizens nationwide. Titled "Opportunities in Crafts for Older Adults," the exhibit demonstrates craftsmanship as a positive and healthy commitment in retirement years.

Through local and regional programs, the elderly have been provided a way to make positive contributions to American culture while simultaneously increasing their self-esteem and financial independence. Serving as a conduit for elder artisans, this organization seeks and promotes the talent of many senior citizens that otherwise might go unnoticed.

As Laurence Binyon said, "Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn."

New force works from home

Today more than 20 million Americans, young and old alike, are involved in some activity to earn money at home, and although the number has almost doubled since 1972, it is now about to boom.

Several factors are responsible for this. One is that America is changing from an industrial society to an information society. The key factor here is that information can be handled in smaller places—like the home.

The result is a new type of work force—with no age or sex requirements—earning their way working in their garage, basement or from the kitchen table.

Older Americans face barriers to employment

Americans ages 65 and over are fighting a fierce battle these days. They're ready and raring to work, but age-old attitudes and new economics may delay a significant re-entry of America's growing labor force into the job market.

Several major studies over the past five years by private institutions and government committees show that older Americans are better equipped physically and psychologically than ever to work. But myths about health and changing business climates may have contributed to a national declining labor participation rate among elderly employees—despite their ability to be employed.

A study by the U.S. Senate's Special Committee on Aging found that while health problems can be more common among older persons, age 65 did not signal a "threshold to dramatic changes in health patterns." In fact, the majority of people aged 65 to 75 questioned reported no physical limitations in their daily activities because of health.

While the ailing health of older Americans may have been valid criteria against their hiring 20 years ago, personnel managers agree that medical advancements and the physical fitness revolution have helped slow down the aging process. The health question has, in fact, provided the most salient proof that today's older people are more capable of employment than past generations.

That importance has also spilled over into medical education and practice. For example, the American Board of Family Practice (ABFP), the certifying organization of the nation's second largest medical specialty, Family Practice, has just instituted a Certificate of Added Qualifications (CAQ) in Geriatrics.

The ABFP, the first medical specialty board to mandate recertification since its inception in 1969 of all its diplomates to address the ever-increasing health needs and problems of this burgeoning segment of the American population.

Dr. Robert Dickman, an ABFP diplomate, prescribes work for many of his older patients. "More of these people are perfectly capable of keeping jobs than the younger American public imagines. Medical advancements and changing family lifestyles have extended their youth, in a sense, allowing them to continue to contribute experience, talent and enthusiasm to any company."

The high cost of living is another reason why this age group wants work. Corporate mergers trim company rosters, forcing older workers into early retirement long before they are financially or psychologically prepared. Rapid change in technological industries also bumps older workers from company payrolls.

Social Security payments, once a bastion of financial security, are also being viewed skeptically by older Americans and younger Americans, too. According to a recent national survey conducted for the American Assn. of Retired Persons, the American public believes Social Security should provide an adequate standard of living when, in actuality, it provides far less than required to ensure a minimum standard of living.

Industry analysts note that business should start soon to resolve their problems.

Recognize importance for safeguarding home

Since the beginning of time, man has sought to control his environment in order to survive. Today, gerontologists, designers and architects are making strides toward creating liveable home environments for the vast majority of the nation's nearly 30 million elderly who wish to live independently in their homes.

According to Andrew S. Dibner, Ph.D., a leading gerontologist and psychologist, by adjusting home environments to accommodate the needs of elderly individuals and creating safer and more secure places to live, older Americans can maintain a sense of dignity and independence.

"As people age," Dibner explained, "they need some mechanism to ensure their safety and psychological comfort so they can remain independent and vital, living in their own home."

Deeply involved in the personal and societal implications of aging, in 1973 Dr. Dibner invented the nation's first personal emergency response system, Lifeline.

In case of emergency, this popular system brings medical assistance with the push of a small, remote-control help button worn around a person's neck or wrist. The signal is then transmitted to the sponsoring health organization via phone lines where it is received by trained operators who may dispatch emergency assistance immediately if necessary. Lifeline is currently available through approximately 1,700 hospital and health care organizations around the country.

Lifeline has proven especially effective for people who have fallen in their homes. According to Dr. Dibner, loss of hearing, vision, muscular strength, memory and balance, all common to the aging process, often result in falls, which constitutes 95 percent of all injuries incurred by people over 65. However, Dr. Dibner and other experts in the field of home safety agree that nearly half of the falls occurring today can be prevented by making simple changes in the kitchen, bedroom, bathroom, stairway and living room areas.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) believes that injuries result from hazards that are easily overlooked but also easy to repair. The following tips and recommendations will help to make the home or the home of an older person you care about, safer, more comfortable and easier to manage.

Make sure all areas of home are well-lit; install night lights and light switches near doors.

Remove cords from walkways and from underneath furniture or carpeting; replace damaged or frayed cords; use rugs with skid resistant backing.

Apply textured strips or appliques to floors of tubs and showers; attach grab bars to wall and to sides of bath tub; use stool with no skid tips as a seat while showering or bathing.

Place phone, light or light switch near bed.

Make sure stairs are well lit with no glare or shadows; install light switches at either end of stairwell; install handrails that extend full length of stairwell.

Make certain carpets are firmly attached in every room.

For a free copy of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission's booklet, "Home Safety Checklist for Older Consumers," and further information on a nearby Lifeline program, call (800) 451-0525.

DOCTORS FORUM

Until recently, mere mention of the word "impotence" was all but taboo. Nearly ten million males were forced to suffer silently with a serious problem. They had nowhere to turn for help. North Point Male Sexual Dysfunction Clinic was among the first medical facilities to reach out to this suffering segment of the population. In 1983, the clinic initiated a comprehensive Male Sexual Dysfunction Program. The program offers analysis, counseling and treatment to patients across the U.S.

Doctors now believe close to 50% of all the men suffering from impotence have a correctable physical problem. This is a radical departure from the earlier belief that impotence is usually psychologically induced.

"North Point practices a sensitive, professional approach to treating impotence" says Dr. Raza Khan, Board Certified Urologist and Consultant to the Male Sexual Dysfunction Clinic. "The first hurdle is to get the patient to come forth and seek help as he would for other ailments." Once enrolled in the program, the patient participates in a series of tests to determine whether his problem is physical or psychological. This includes psychological analysis as well as hormonal, neurologic, urologic and vascular testing.

The clinic also conducts Nocturnal Penile Tumescence Studies. The patient spends an entire night in a special sleep laboratory. An average adult male will experience three to five erections during a normal night's sleep. North Point's Sleep Lab utilizes sophisticated monitors to measure a patient's erections during the night. If his impotence is not physical, erections should take place.

"A thorough diagnosis at the clinic takes approximately three days," says Khan. "At that time, the cause of most impotence cases can be determined. The treatment counseling is the next step."

Psychological problems may be treated by an expert on the North Point Staff or referred to a doctor in the patient's home territory. Physical treatments vary according to the diagnosis. North Point Male Sexual Dysfunction Clinic is qualified and successful in performing all. These can range from hormone injections to medications or even surgery. For more information or a free information packet, call (312) 872-8922.

The Doctor Forum is brought to you as a public service from the Heritage Medical Center, in Antioch, Illinois. For more information call (312) 395-0885

DON'T LET IMPOTENCE KEEP YOU APART

It's difficult to confront a sexual problem.

Impotence...the word alone makes us uneasy. So we conceal. We avoid. But the fact is, most problems can not only be treated, but cured.

You can have a healthy, satisfying sex life, at almost any age, despite almost any problem. And that's what the North Point Male Sexual Dysfunction Clinic is all about. Reaching people on a very personal level to define and then treat the dysfunction.

Our resources are exceptional from counseling and therapy for psychologically related problems, to breakthrough medical and surgical procedures for a physical dysfunction. Many homes harbor hidden treasures

Most people over 40 have "hidden treasures" tucked away in their homes but don't know it, says collectibles expert Dr. H.A. Tony Hyman, author of "Cash for Your Undiscovered Treasures."

"Sad to say, people usually sell their treasures at yard sales for a tiny fraction of their real value," he says, citing a Long Island couple who sold an "ugly little dish" for $2 at a house sale, then were horrified when it resold a few months later for $66,000.

Not every treasure is worth that much, he admits, but "nearly every middle class home has something worth between $25 and $1,000 that the owners think is valueless." Claims Hyman, a collector for 35 years, "I've found $300 items in trash cans more than once."

Items don't have to be antique or expensive to be valuable, emphasizes Hyman. "It's amazing how many things made during your lifetime are worth hundreds of times what they originally sold for."

The collectibles market is growing so rapidly that virtually anything made by man is collected by someone.

"Everyone knows stamps and coins might be valuable, but you're far more likely to own a $250 tin can than a $250 stamp," he says. "But you must get expert advice to know what's junk and what's treasure."

Today's values are astronomical, Hyman says. "Who'd ever imagine that someone would pay $5,000 for a furniture catalog or $1,100 for plastic Barbie doll furniture that isn't even 30 years old? It's hard to believe, but the record price for a doll is $43,000 and for an Indian blanket more than $150,000. And I know people who'd pay $20,000 for the right baseball card, tv set or slot machine."

The biggest problem has always been getting reliable advice and finding honest buyers. "There's only one good cigar box buyer in the country. Finding experts on roller coasters, corkscrews and sewing machines is equally difficult."

Antique dealers jealously guard the names of specialty buyers, Hyman says. "Good buyers are worth their weight in gold. I know one Eastern dealer who never lets her buyers list out of her sight. She puts it under her pillow before she goes to sleep."

Hyman's book, "Cash for Your Undiscovered Treasures" makes names, addresses and phone numbers of 1,500 expert buyers available to everyone. It is designed to help people learn what collectors want to buy, where to go for free appraisals, and how to get top dollar by selling through the mail.

Selling through the mail is easy as long as you deal with reliable buyers and follow the prescriptions about describing the item carefully, listing every defect, making a photocopy or photo, and including a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

There are thousands of things sellers need advice about, including: cameras, watches, Christmas ornaments, war souvenirs, pens, light bulbs, ash trays, cook books, phonograph records, license plates, old clothes, dog tags, beer cans, plastic radios and cigar boxes.

He points out that a duck decoy found in someone's front room recently brought $50,000, and a lowly fishing plug sold for $5,000, "provided you also better be careful of anything hand carved of wood."

Paper goods are very desirable, warns Hyman. Among collectible items he lists stocks, old checks, photos, calendars, postcards, blueprints, girlie magazines, catalogs, bills, diaries, scrapbooks, gum and tobacco cards, comic books, wine labels, and newspapers. "Even old oil company road maps have some value, and the 25 cent Dell paperback mysteries will shock you with how much they can be worth," he said. "So will old science fiction and mystery pulp magazines."

"Cash for Your Undiscovered Treasures" is available only by mail. Send $19.95 plus $3 shipping to Treasure Hunt Publications, Box 1710, Temple City, Calif. 91780. Credit card orders only may phone toll-free, (800)543-7500. It comes with an unconditional money back guarantee.

New features lighten shoes

Granny's shoes never looked this good! That's the word from shoe manufacturers who have put new life into the comfort shoe category this year.

Shoe designers are stepping up their so-called "comfort shoe" styles by adding lively shoe designs to their traditional offerings. Now, low-heeled pumps and sleek wedges are appearing with eye-catching details which fashionably cover the comfort shoe features that make them fit for feet.

Why the sudden interest in comfortable steppers? "There's been increasing consumer demand for these shoes from working women," says Rich Learn, a buyer for the Kinney Shoe Corp. "As more women enter the marketplace, they ended fashionable dress shoes that match business attire yet are comfortable to wear five days a week."

Dress shoes that feel better and look right have inspired intuitive designs from manufacturers. Modest pumps and slight wedges with semi-round toes are now constructed with padded arch supports, foam cushioning and soft sock linings. They're designed to ensure comfortable fit yet are lighter and more fashionable than traditional comfort shoes.

Mature feet require care to stay on healthy track

Feet that work hard to keep people mobile throughout life deserve special care to keep them on a healthy track.

"Because feet change as you mature, it is especially important for older adults to pay particular attention to proper foot care and grooming," says Dr. Charles J. Gudas, a clinical professor of orthopedic surgery at the University of Chicago and member of Dr. Scholl's Foot Health Council.

Gudas and other members of the council provide foot care advice for older adults in a new booklet entitled "Healthy Footsteps." Among the foot care tips given in the booklet:

-Cushioning. Adding shock-absorbing insoles to shoes can help cushion feet that lose some of their internal padding as they mature. In winter, insulated or wool fleece insoles can protect feet from cold and dampness.

-Dry Skin. Skin is inclined to become dry with aging. The skin on the feet should be moisturized daily with a conditioning lotion to retain moisture and keep them soft and smooth.

-Soothing leg cramps. Often described as a "charley horse," night leg muscle cramps are common among those over 45. The painful cramps are caused by involuntary contractions of the leg muscles. A medication containing the muscle relaxant quinine sulfate is often prescribed by doctors for relief of night leg cramps. A new non-prescription medication, Legatrin, is now available.

-Relieving foot conditions. Calluses can be reduced by soaking feet regularly in a moisturizing foot soak to soften, then using a pumice stone or file to smooth the rough, hardened skin. Soft pads can help relieve painful bunions and corns and protect them from shoe pressure.

-Foot grooming. After bathing feet, use a foot powder to keep them dry and help prevent odor or potential development of athlete's foot, which thrives in warm, moist areas between the toes. Trim toenails straight across to avoid ingrown toenails.

For a free copy of "Healthy Footsteps," send a stamped, self-addressed long envelope to PRB/SC, 150 E. Huron, Chicago, 60611.

Drug-free holiday can benefit some seniors

As part of the natural process of aging, elderly individuals experience a 50 percent reduction in renal and kidney function. Therefore, medications taken by elderly individuals are metabolized at a slower rate than in younger adults. As a result, certain drugs can build up in their bloodstream and while medications have many benefits, they can cause side effects.

To prevent the overaccumulation of drugs and the associated side effects in elderly patients, a "drug-free day program" was initiated at Daughters of Jacob Geriatric Center in New York City. Each Monday, senior citizens whose medical conditions are considered stable and, under strict medical supervision, participate in the drug-free holiday program during which they receive no medication one day a week.

Daughters of Jacob President Claire Vogelmann said, "In the past three years that the program has existed, both staff and elderly residents have received positive benefits from the drug-free day program."

First, it gives the patients a chance to experience their daily activities without medication. The residents don't feel sick on drug-free days, and they have more time for activities. It also reduces the anxiety of having to take a pill, and many participants feel more alert.

Second, it allows Daughters of Jacob staff to spend more time with the residents. Freed from dispensing medications, the nursing staff has more time to work with the residents and give them the tender loving care they need.

Third, it gives the medical staff a chance to evaluate the prescription patterns of elderly patients. The doctors are better able to learn what medications do and do not work and then make decisions about whether or not to change a medication or to discontinue a drug completely.

The bottom line is that as the number of elderly people in the nation increase, so will the dangers associated with the drugs and the aging. The need to educate physicians, medical professionals and individuals about the dangers associated with drug abuse and the elderly and about measures that can be taken to prevent tragic consequences, is imminent.

It must be emphasized, however, that before any senior citizen considers participating in a "drug-free day" program, it should be cleared by his or her physician.

Concluded Vogelmann, "While only a single remedy, the 'drug-free holiday' program is one way to ensure the quality of life for the elderly."

Help is close at hand with emergency system

As the population in the U.S. is aging, this means more and more elderly people are living alone at home. Faced with the possibility of being moved to a convalescent home or skilled nursing facility, most seniors prefer to maintain their independence and remain in their own homes.

These facts create problems for the independent seniors as well as for their families. As health naturally deteriorates, the need arises for assistance in basic home activities. Cleaning, eating, even walking become increasingly difficult for some.

One of the major concerns for the person living alone is the ability to get help in an emergency situation. Family members are not always close by. "What if I get chest pains and I can't get to the telephone? What if I fall in the bathroom—how long will I wait before someone knows there has been an accident? What if I hear a prowler outside my bedroom window?"

With the Emergency Response System, these fears can be put to rest. Homebound elderly persons and their families can now have the security of knowing that they will be taken care of in any type of emergency that occurs in the home.

The ERS is particularly appropriate for senior citizens, people who live alone, and individuals with specific medical needs requiring prompt attention, such as heart patients, diabetics and the physically disabled.

The Emergency Response System, is a potentially life-saving device that can provide older people in the community with a sense of security and independence.

The core of the system is a small communication unit which is conveniently placed in the home. The unit contains separate buttons for police, fire or medical emergencies. The ERS user simply presses the appropriate button, indicating the type of emergency. If they are unable to reach the home unit, the system can be activated from anywhere in the home by using a hand-held transmitter or a necklace-type pendant.

The Emergency Response System is clearly a way to help seniors remain independent in their own homes and at the same time give peace of mind to family members and friends. It's available through hospitals and other health care organizations. For more information, call (213)475-6066.

Job Club finds jobs for seniors

Many people find that they have retired too early. There are many reasons for them to come to this conclusion.

Some will determine that their retirement income (Social Security, savings and investments) is not adequate for the level of living that they had hoped for when they retired. Others may miss the fulfillment of life and the social contacts they enjoyed while working. Many have experienced unexpected expenses. In any case, they wish they were still working.

So, what can be done about this situation? There is always volunteer work, but that will not solve the financial needs of some retired persons.

Get a job. But how and where? At this point in their lives, older workers most likely are not looking for career advancement but for some position and employer where they feel comfortable and they can be a valued employee. This may be the time to think of a change in careers. One could pursue a job where interests and skills, that have been developed outside of those gained from former employment, can be used.

Once the decision has been made to go back to work, a plan should be made to accomplish this. Who would likely have jobs for what you want to do? One would want to discover a job opening before it becomes public knowledge (want ads).

Although want ads and other public announcements should be pursued, one of the best sources for leads comes from ones own "network." Let friends, acquaintances and relatives know that one is looking for a job and ask them to let you know of any opening of which they may become aware.

There will be less competition for these jobs. Another good way to develop leads is to telephone employers who may have the desired job available. Make every attempt to speak to that person who would have the hiring authority.

One very important item: Keep a positive attitude! Don't become discouraged by rejection. There are many employers who are not concerned about age but are concerned that one can and will do the job.

In finding a job there is a certain amount of luck. But, luck can be improved with effort. The Private Industry Council of Lake County has a new program for people 55 and over who are interested in finding a job. The program is called the Job Club.

For more information, call Jim Erickson at (312) 249-2200.

Vision test gives accurate picture

Submitted by: DR. SEILLER
Eye Care Center of Lake County

For the past 125 years, it has been the standard in eye care to check a patient's vision with a series of letters commonly called the "Big E Chart," where 20/20 vision is judged to be normal. Through extensive research, it has been determined that these letters do not depict a realistic representation of a patient's visual capabilities. While some patients may test well on the "E Chart" in the ophthalmologist's office, under varied, real life conditions they may not see as well. Patients with eye disorders frequently report decreased vision in certain lighting conditions, such as night-driving, bright sunlight, or when it is hazy on rainy days.

The Snellen E test measures vision in only one, high-contrast situation, black letters against a white background in standard bright light. On the other hand, a revolutionary new procedure called a contrast sensitivity test measures the quality of vision in varying contrast levels. This test simulates lighting conditions experienced by patients in everyday real life situations. One of the best uses of this new test is to determine if a person is experiencing a vision problem due to the formulation of cataracts. Since over 20 million people over the age of 65 suffer from cataracts, this test has become useful in determining who can be helped by cataract surgery.

The staff at the Eye Care Center of Lake County is excited about this new technological breakthrough, and its usefulness toward restoring good vision to patients. Therefore, they have purchased a new machine which tests under controlled lighting the patient's ability to see under various conditions. This test can be immediately interpreted by a staff member. In fact, the Eye Care Center of Lake County is so enthusiastic about contrast sensitivity testing that they are offering a new test, free, to the public. Anyone who would like a free contrast sensitivity test may call Angie at (312) 587-9800, and she will schedule an appointment at either the Fox Lake or Waukegan office.

Offer medical care

The Lake County Health Dept. provides diagnosis and treatment of medical problems and school and sports physical exams. Blood pressure testing and health counseling are also available.

Visits to podiatrist necessary

According to Dr. Lee Tisa, podiatrist, "Most people walk around the world about two and one-half times, or 70,000 miles during the course of an average lifetime." The human foot is an engineering wonder which serves us with exceptional faithfulness and fortitude, however, the foot is susceptible to a long series of disorders—disorders that range from very minor to very serious.

Podiatrists are the only specialists trained to care exclusively for foot and foot related problems for all ages. Your podiatrist's evaluation takes into account much more than your feet. Many systematic disorders, such as diabetes, heart, lung, kidney and circulatory disease may appear in the foot earlier than elsewhere in the body.

Your podiatrist's evaluation will include a medical history, physical examination, and in some cases, x-rays and special laboratory tests. Once a diagnosis is made, your podiatrist will begin an individualized treatment program, which may include medications, orthotics (corrective devices used to correct skeletal malalignment) palliative treatment, and/or surgery.

Common problems which podiatrists treat include:

In-grown toenails: This painful condition occurs when the nail grows into the skin and can cause an infection.

Warts: Plantar warts are another painful condition. They're caused by a virus and grow into the bottom of the foot.

Fungus: Fungus infections involving the foot may spread to the nails and adjacent skin surfaces. "Athletes Foot" makes skin itchy and scaly, nails thick, discolored and disfigured.

Calluses and Corns: Causes include underlying bone problems and shoe gear which rub. Dead skin cells pile up, creating calluses on the bottom of the foot and corns on the toes.

Bunions and Hammer Toes: These conditions are caused by structural and muscle imbalances which are aggravated by shoe gear.

Painful arches: Causes include structural malalignment due to abnormal stress forces to the bone and muscle structures of the foot.

Pediatric conditions: Include intoeing and fallen arches.

To keep your feet healthy, practice this routine foot care at home: Wash your feet daily with soap and warm water, using a wash cloth between the toes; after bathing, dry feet well with a rough terry cloth towel; smooth rough skin with a pumice stone or dry skin cream; if your feet perspire a lot, dust them with foot powder containing an antifungal ingredient.

Buy only shoes that fit. Stand on paper, trace around your bare foot. Compare the outline of your foot with the sole of your shoe. If your shoe appears too narrow, you may be inviting foot problems. Shoes should let your feet "breathe", leather is best.

Change your footwear often. Keep your shoes in good repair. Socks should be changed every day; more often if you perspire excessively.

Cut toenails straight across with a standard toenail clipper. To make it easier to clip dry, brittle nails, soften them by soaking first in warm soapy water.

Walk barefoot only on beach, sand, carpeting or other pliable surfaces. Do not walk barefoot on concrete pavement, asphalt, tile, hardwood floors or other hard surfaces.

Exercise your feet. Walking is the best exercise for your feet. Moreover, its good for your circulation, general health and morale. Staying on your feet helps maintain fitness and independence.

See your podiatrist regularly and follow the above routine foot care and you'll have very healthy feet.

CLC's drama department rehearses 'Bear' for kids

The College of Lake County Theatre Dept. will present "The Arkansas Bear" at the CLC Auditorium as this year's children's theatre production.

The play, directed by theatre instructor Robert J. Coscarelli, will be presented at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 9, 10 and 16, and at 2 p.m. on Oct. 11 and 17.

Applauded by family audiences since its first performance in 1980, this play's charm and vitality will captivate adults as well as children.

Written by Aurand Harris, one of America's foremost playwrights for young audiences, "The Arkansas Bear" tells the story of a young girl who runs away to a special tree for consolation after realizing her grandfather is near death.

There, in the world of fantasy, the young girl (played by Virginia Jones of Grayslake) meets the world's greatest dancing bear (Dean Callin of Lindenhurst) and a delightful mime (Dave Vergin of Wildwood).

In trying to help the bear escape from the Great Ringmaster (Rick French of Lake Villa), the girl begins to understand the meaning of both life and death.

Others in the cast include Edmond Zebrowski of Waukegan, Chris Knight of Wildwood, Eric Hall and Beth Garriss of Libertyville, and Debi White of Grayslake.

After the 2 p.m. performance on Saturday, Oct. 17, a special discussion/symposium will give children and adults the chance to meet with the cast and child development experts to discuss the meaning of the play.

Tickets are available at the box office on the main campus, in Room C101. Admission is 14 for general public and $2 for students, staff and alumni. Special group rates are available. For more information, call (312)223-6601, ext. 550.

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME
Weekly Tip: Opportunities to use your ingenuity are everywhere.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) By being kind and considerate with those you care about, you can achieve great success. Use your mind, however, and don't rely on charm alone.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Talk your cherished ambitions over with a close pal, and get the feedback you desire. Finish the projects you've started, and move on to greater ones.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Implement your practical side when dealing with those in the business world. Shelve your social life for now, and really dive into your workload.

Cancer (June 21-Jul 20) A cooperative partner can give you the assistance no one else has been able to. Double-check your schedule and make sure you have time for your friends.

Leo (Jul 21-Aug. 22) When out and about on the social front, make sure you listen when indulged in conversation; you could pick up on some keen ideas. Keep your eyes open.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you've been having problems trusting people lately, you are justified; it's sometimes best to keep your secrets. Carry on with plans for the future.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Spread your love for humankind around today and get nice responses. Be a happier person as a result of your optimism. Your creativity is high now.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Showing real affection for those you love can bring you much happiness. It's a good day for sociability and spreading warmth and good cheer.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Why not give a party instead of just attending one? Those around you are in a jolly frame of mind now. Take advantage of this and make them happy.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Get everything around you nicely organized, then make those changes where a personal relationship is concerned. Family matters need attention.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) You have neglected your good friends as of late, so correct this immediately. Get your creative juices flowing and tackle your projects efficiently.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) It's time to bring everything together regarding that important project you've been working so hard on. People will cooperate easily now.

If you were born this week, you have all the potential for a very fine life. Yet if you have a tendency to talk too much, people may think you're a smart-aleck and alienate you. Listening is a virtue that cannot be overemphasized. Also, your impulsive nature can add a lot of sunshine to your life, so be sure you take advantage of this. It's up to you.

Kemper study cites cooking as leading cause of fires

Carelessness while cooking was the leading cause of residential fires in Lake County during 1986, accounting for 23 percent of the 590 home fires reported by local fire departments, according to a study released by the Kemper Group.

In conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4 through 10, and for the seventh consecutive year, the Long Grove-based insurance and financial services company conducted a survey of Lake County fire departments to determine the leading causes of residential fires.

Home fires last year accounted for 25 percent of all fires reported by the fire departments, caused nearly $4.3 million in property damage and claimed four lives. Of those homes that had fires in 1986, more than half did not have a working smoke detector.

The misuse and malfunction of heating equipment was the second leading cause of home fires, igniting 10 percent of the blazes. Most were attributed to fireplace, wood stove and chimney mishaps. Arson was the third most cited fire cause, responsible for 19 percent of home fires, one-third of which were started by juveniles.

Electrical equipment misuse and malfunction accounted for 18 percent of the fires. Careless smoking resulted in six percent of fires; and explosion or ignition of flammable liquids accounted for three percent of residential fires.

According to David C. Grupp, Kemper's fire protection engineer and chief of the Long Grove Volunteer Fire Protection Dist., the severely cold weather in the first three months of 1986 fueled the number of heating equipment fires. He also noted that juveniles ignited significantly fewer arson fires in 1986 than in 1985. "Credit for that should go to the county's fire departments," Grupp said. "They have been aggressively promoting fire safety in the classroom and have sought counseling for juveniles who have started fires."

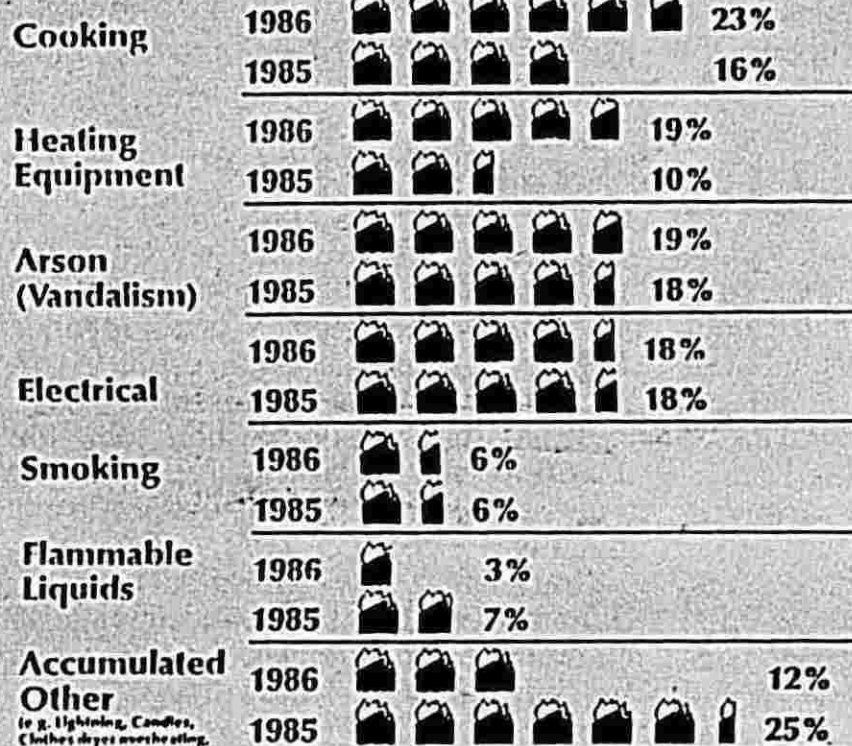

Grupp suggests the following fire prevention tips. --To avoid cooking fires, be sure stove and other appliances are turned off when not in use. Do not use the stove top

Learning before election

Taxpayers should take comfort with the knowledge that school board members don't have to endure on-the-job training anymore. The office seekers can learn about their jobs in advance and get insight into the increasingly complex nature of their duties at workshops being conducted by the Illinois Assn. of School Boards.

One such workshop will take place Oct. 14 at Mundelein High School. The two-hour sessions are worthwhile and we hope candidates take advantage of this opportunity.

At least three seats on every seven-member board of education will be filled at the Nov. 3 election, and in some cases four. About half of those elected will be serving for the first time so the IASB training program fills a genuine need. The workshops will cover such issues as the board's powers and duties, policy functions, administrative functions of the superintendent, and the school board's role in the curriculum.

Among the speakers scheduled for the Mundelein workshop are Supt. Wayne Bottoni of Mundelein High; Dawn Miller, Mundelein High board president; Supt. Patrick Patt of Oak Grove School; and Supt. Milton Herzog of Stevenson High School. If the candidates turn out, all of us can go to the polls Nov. 3 with the knowledge that they'll know something about their job if elected.

Bed and breakfast new wave

Illinois is going for the bed and breakfast business in a big way. Once thought of as an offering to travelers in Europe and New England as an alternative to traditional hotels and motels, bed and breakfast operations in private homes and smaller scale businesses offering overnight accommodations are becoming popular in big cities and small towns alike.

Tourism officials in Illinois are encouraging the development of bed and breakfast facilities. The General Assembly recognized this new industry with a bed and breakfast bill (SB 1421) that establishes new licensing standards which will better reflect the unique nature of the business at the same time protecting the public's health and safety. It provides exemptions from typical hotel and motel standards that might otherwise destroy the historical and architectural charm of bed and breakfast inns.

In a locality where recreation and tourism is a major industry, we see a bright future for bed and breakfast operations in the Chain O'Lakes area and Long Grove, which attract thousands of visitors annually, but where overnight accommodations range from little to none. Bed and breakfast places would fill a need while providing for visitors until more elaborate facilities are available.

Reducing drunk driving

A new state law stiffens the penalty for repeat offenses of drunk driving. That should come as good news to our community and neighboring villages which have suffered more than most areas in Illinois because of our location on the pathway to the lure of Wisconsin's oases and the one-time drinking age differential.

For a second conviction of driving under the influence, an individual's license will be revoked for three years rather than one. A third conviction will result in a six-year license suspension. A third conviction also becomes a Class 4 felony, rather than a misdemeanor. Felony convictions can result in imprisonment in a state penitentiary.

Legislators are doing their job. Now it's up to the courts. Hopefully we're in a new era regarding the curse of drunk driving.

There are now 27,000 drivers in Illinois who have two DUI convictions on their records and 9,000 with three or more convictions. This is disgraceful.

Looking at lawyers

On the surface, a project to study how the Illinois Supreme Court supervises and disciplines Illinois lawyers sounds like a good idea. The program is being spearheaded by Chief Justice William G. Clark, who noted that "there is always room for improvement" as he announced a blue ribbon committee of seven.

On second glance, though, a nagging feeling of "here we go again" sets in. A majority of the committee is from the legal profession, four to three. It would be inappropriate to suggest that the deck has been stacked, but why not structure the committee with lawyers in the minority, especially since the committee's role will be advisory? The fact, as we plain citizens have learned, is that lawyers don't work that way.

It is encouraging, nonetheless, to see mechanisms being set up for lawyer review. There seems to be an unnecessary abundance of "lawyering" in society today. The legislative process is suffering because of a lop-sided number of lawyers in public office. Litigation, triggered in part because of a professional imbalance, is suffocating both business and government. One of these days we would like to see a blue ribbon panel take a look at how trial lawyers, a highly visible and influential segment of the legal profession, are holding back much-needed tort reform regarding malpractice laws.

We were delighted to see that a Lake County resident, President Eugene Hotchkiss of Lake Forest, was named chairman of the panel.

Letters To The Editor

Can't be trusted

Editor:

Big city politics have found their way to Antioch. Most voters aren't surprised when state or national politicians make promises and do not keep them. However, I am extremely disappointed in the integrity of Village Trustee Mabel Lou Weber.

Before her reelection, Mabel Lou promised her constituents that she would vote against the Cunningham proposal. She had already voted for the 96-unit P.U.D. Most of us voted to reelect Mabel Lou because we believed she was a person who would keep her word—a woman of integrity. When Mabel Lou cast the deciding vote in favor of the Cunningham proposal, she proved even local politicians can't be trusted to live up to their promises.

Citizens heard

Editor:

After years of debate on the Heartland and months of hearings on the incinerator and landfill expansion, Lake County has been spared an environmental disaster. I live five miles east of Heartland and am very appreciative of the many working hours spent in achieving this settlement. In particular, I thank Gaylord Donnelley, George Ranney and the associates of Prairie Holdings Corp. for taking the key role in the Heartland settlement. Thank you also to the County Board for hearing and being receptive to citizen input, and to the leadership and members of CLEAR who provided much of that input.

Watch Porter, hard-working, fair-minded

by BILL SCHROEDER

Steadily and without a lot of fanfare, Congressman John Porter is moving up in the ranks of the House Republican leadership. The fifth-term Congressman, who formerly served in the Illinois General Assembly, serves seven townships in Lake County that are part of the 10th Dist., which includes the North Shore.

Porter, serious and hard-working, is co-chairman of the Republican Task Force on Congressional Reform. Considering the political realities of the Democratic-controlled house, most GOP congressmen would prefer to direct their energies elsewhere. But Porter has accepted the job willingly pass a huge omnibus appropriation to fund the government after failing to meet the Oct. 1 deadline for passing the regular appropriations bills. These irresponsible megabills are the engine of our runaway deficit train."

Porter painted a grim picture of the mind-boggling $2.3 trillion national debt, the growing deficit of which his constant concern has been pictured as anti-White House, impending disaster if the budget isn't addressed, a new specter of volunteer liability and hypocrisy of House Democrats on procedures.

"You sound very pessimistic," this columnist injected. Porter responded with a grin. "No, I'm an optimist." On second thought, only an eternal optimist would be working to get Democratic leadership to reorganize major committees to reflect the existing three to two majority instead of the two-to-one Democratic majority on the Rules Committee, for example, and a six-to-one majority on the committee staff.

Obviously, Porter isn't afraid of hard work. This characteristic, plus his innate decency, has earned the respect of colleagues on both aisles.

What's in store for the future? "I'm not running for any other offices, he shot back good-naturedly. Where does Porter stand on the GOP Presidential sweepstakes? He said Bush is the front-runner. His own role in the campaign will be announced shortly. A man to admire and a man to watch. It'll be interesting to see where Congressman Porter fits in on the big puzzle for 1988.

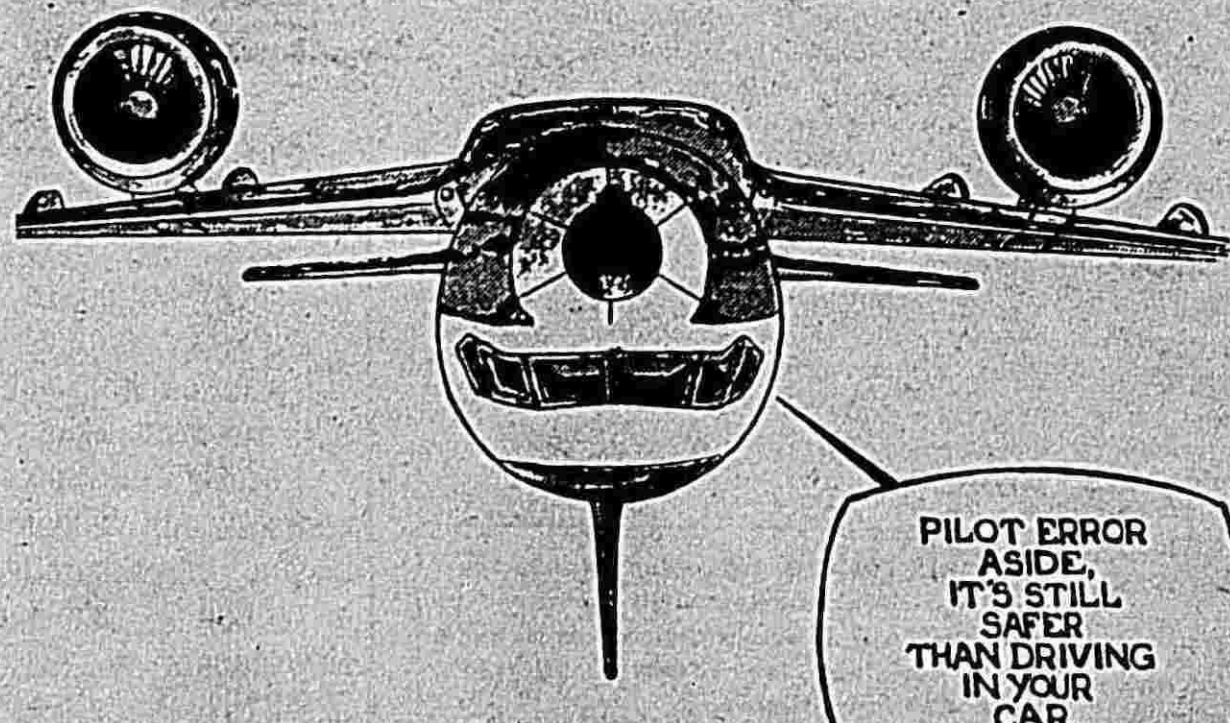

Cong. John Porter

and cheerfully. Porter is going to appeal to their sense of fairness in getting Democrats to join in reforms needed because of Democratic abuses. That may be a job akin to getting a leopard to change his spots.

A good starting point, the handsome Evanstonian believes, is "educating the American people on the process of American government." During a visit the other day at the Lakeland Newspaper editorial office, we suggested that one of the appeals to the American people of Lt. Col. Oliver North was the enjoyment of seeing someone thumb their nose at Congress. Porter replied quickly that the reason is that "Congress has been thumbing its nose at the people." Porter is galled by the fact that his colleagues will pass a "continuing resolution" within the week so they legally can finish work they haven't completed within the allotted time.

"For the 33rd straight year since 1954—the last year the Republicans controlled the Congress—we're going to

The winds of political change starting to blow

BUBBLE, BUBBLE, TOIL and trouble, the political stew is beginning to brew, and just in time for Halloween. Lake County Republican Chairman and County Board Rep. Bob Neal (R-Adams) is taking his case to the people by seeking to create an elected county executive. Both political parties could field candidates. Neal intends to seek the Republican nod if the proposal passed by voters.

County Board Chairman Jim Fields (R-Antioch) says that such a move regular Republicans did not accept LaBelle's offer to align himself with them in exchange for the chairmanship, it wouldn't be long before the independent Republicans took LaBelle upon an offer.

The late Glenn Miller, chairman before LaBelle, was a former powerhouse who had suffered hardening of the political arteries in his last term. He was simply ineffective and inattentive.

So Neal has to be saying to himself, "Hey, I've done my time. For years I've gone from one end of the county to the other, saying nice things about people I don't even want to be in the same state with, much less the same room. Now, I am better known countywide than any other member of the board. Why should I keep carrying the torch for second-raters who can't carry it for themselves?"

Is this a power play by Neal? You betcha. But that doesn't mean it's bad for the county.

This is just the first in a series of political shock waves that, over the next three years, are going to profoundly alter the political landscape in Lake County. This question will be on the March, 1988 ballot. Watch for it to be followed up by a referendum in November to reduce the size of the county board.

The countywide officials (Sheriff, State's Atty., Clerk, etc.) and the appointed department heads have reached a point where they either wrinkle their noses in disgust or roll their eyes when talking about the board. And well they should. The board has become a wild, thrashing beast in a blind rage that is best avoided. If impossible to avoid, it must be handled with extreme caution. Even a requisition for paper clips can turn into a political battle with this board.

The 1988 elections will be a year of positioning. Despite deep procedural changes in the system, political alignments will remain much the same. All the pols are trying to get themselves positioned to be at the peak of the wave of change that will happen in 1990, which will be the year the old alliances collapse.

The top powers in the county are ready. They are disgusted with the fact that Lake County, third largest in the state, doesn't even make the top 10 when it comes to clout in Springfield.

Politics in the county for the last couple of decades has been divided among the inept, the ideologues and the moralists. If you have a pothole that needs fixing, the inept will get lost on the way, the ideologues will give a lecture on self-reliance, and the moralists will explain the purity of their motives. And the pothole will be there in the morning while the factions argue over whose fault it is that it isn't fixed.

There are, however, a few islands of sanity in this turbulent political sea. People like John Matijevich, Linda Hess, Bob Churchill, Fred Foreman, and Mickey Babcox, among others, play their politics, but do their jobs.

Each knows how to find that pothole and does not feel obligated to lecture us about world hunger, the Contras or morality while getting the job done.

Those are the lines that the new alliances are going to take. People simply want government that works - and skip the excuses. The people who put a premium on getting their job done first and spouting rhetoric second are talking to each other. They are getting ready.

WATCH FOR U.S. Rep. John Porter to accept a major position in Vice-President George Bush's campaign for the Republican nomination for President in the next few weeks.

Porter visited the office last week and said he would be involved in the campaign. While he didn't say who he would be working for, he had nothing but kind words for Bush. He also said we should expect an announcement soon.

I have already figured out that to find which candidate an as-yet uncommitted official is really supporting, just ask who the front-runner is. Bush supporters say Bush; Dole supporters say Dole. Porter said Bush.

Just Politics

ould open the door to election of (egads!) a Democrat.

No doubt it galls Neal that the last three chairmen have been men he privately considers to be limited. Fields is a compromise chairman regarded as a nice man but without the drive or intellectual spark to take hold of county government and make it work.

Jim LaBelle (R-Zion) was considered a blatant opportunist by allies and opponents alike. When last elected, he only had three votes to call his own - his and those of Andrea Moore and Eleanor Mostron. When caucus time came, it was "let's make a deal" and Neal was smart enough to know that if the

Floodplain regulations vary throughout county

(Editor's note: Ron Riepe is the head of geology at the College of Lake County.)

The end of September marks the first anniversary of the flood of 1986, as well as the annual observance of Prairie Week. The last full week of September in Illinois is dedicated annually to recognize our prairie heritage.

Over 60 percent of Illinois originally nine to 12 inches during the storm period, and severe flooding also occurred along the Fox River. Four deaths were attributed to the flooding, and damage costs exceeding $30 million in the Chicago area and $70 million in the outlying suburbs are still being tallied.

In Lake County, flooding is not restricted to rivers and creeks. Flooding frequently occurs around lakes and in swales between drainages. The problem of surface water retention is magnified when soils possess a high clay content, which is common in most of Lake County.

What is the degree of perception regarding surface water problems in Lake County? People are tremendously variable in their knowledge of flooding, anticipation of future flooding, and willingness to accept adjustments caused by the hazard.

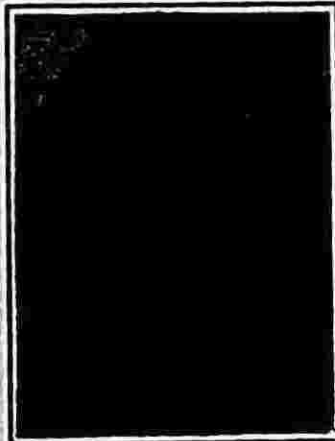

Regulations, which govern the utilization and development of flood-prone lands, vary from village to town to the county. It is interesting to note (and may be surprising to some) that the most stringent and comprehensive regulations governing the development and use of land subject to flooding are held by the County of Lake. The "Floodplain Regulations" are contained in Article Four, Section Two of the Lake County Zoning Ordinance. The county regulations govern inland depressional floodplains (flood-prone swales) as well as floodplains along rivers with regard to permitted uses, filling, development setbacks and other modifications.

The solution to Lake County water and wetland problems can be aided by more public education and awareness of pending state legislative proposals relevant to flooding. Cognizance of what communities do or do not have in their ordinances governing floodplain utilization and variance procedures would also be enlightening.

Although technology, coupled with political and financial clout, exists to continue altering the Lake County environment, a greater appreciation should prevail for the liquid assets in this unique wetland county of the Prairie State.

was dominated by prairie. And Lake County probably exhibited the same percentage of prairie. At the present time, less than one-tenth of one percent of those original prairies are still extant in Lake County or the rest of the Prairie State. The remainder of the land was forest and wetlands, the latter being especially vulnerable to flooding.

Today in Lake County, wetlands cover over 14 percent of the county surface area. In comparing Lake County to the entire state, only one and one half percent of Illinois is covered by wetlands. Thus, with regard to environment, Lake County is unlike the rest of Illinois. The recency (13,000 years ago) and nature of glaciation in Lake County is responsible for the peculiar abundance of lakes and wetlands. The uniqueness of the Lake County environment presents particular challenges and opportunities to its residents.

The recent rainy weather and flooding in Cook County arouse vivid memories of the flooding in late September and early October of last year. Severe flooding occurred in 1986 in the Des Plaines River Basin, where peak flows with recurrence intervals of 75 years were reported. Rainfall totaled

Need runners

Grayslake Community High School cross country coach Joel Peebles may wonder if his sport is in trouble. He is wondering, with only eight runners, if that mirrors a national trend.

Peebles said nationally running faces more competition than ever for students to become part of a cross-country team. Competition from other sports, from pressure to excel in academics and the need to work part-time for cars and dating all have reduced the number of students the sport can draw from.

Peebles is trying to reverse the trend. "We had two students sign up for cross country last spring. Five boys and five girls would allow us to field teams, but we are attempting to add to our current number of eight."

Currently, Grayslake's cross country team members are competing as individuals. Junior Ron Klabunde has proven to be the top boy harrier, according to Peebles. Senior Jamie Russell is close behind. Other team members are senior Dave Fling and freshman Arturo Martinez.

Makes team

Todd Gedville, an Antioch High School product, is on the Milikin University football roster.

Gedville, a 6-1, 165 freshman, plays wide receiver. Milikin faces Illinois Wesleyan Sept. 26.

Taking charge

Now that the conference races are underway, certain teams are already beginning to take charge.

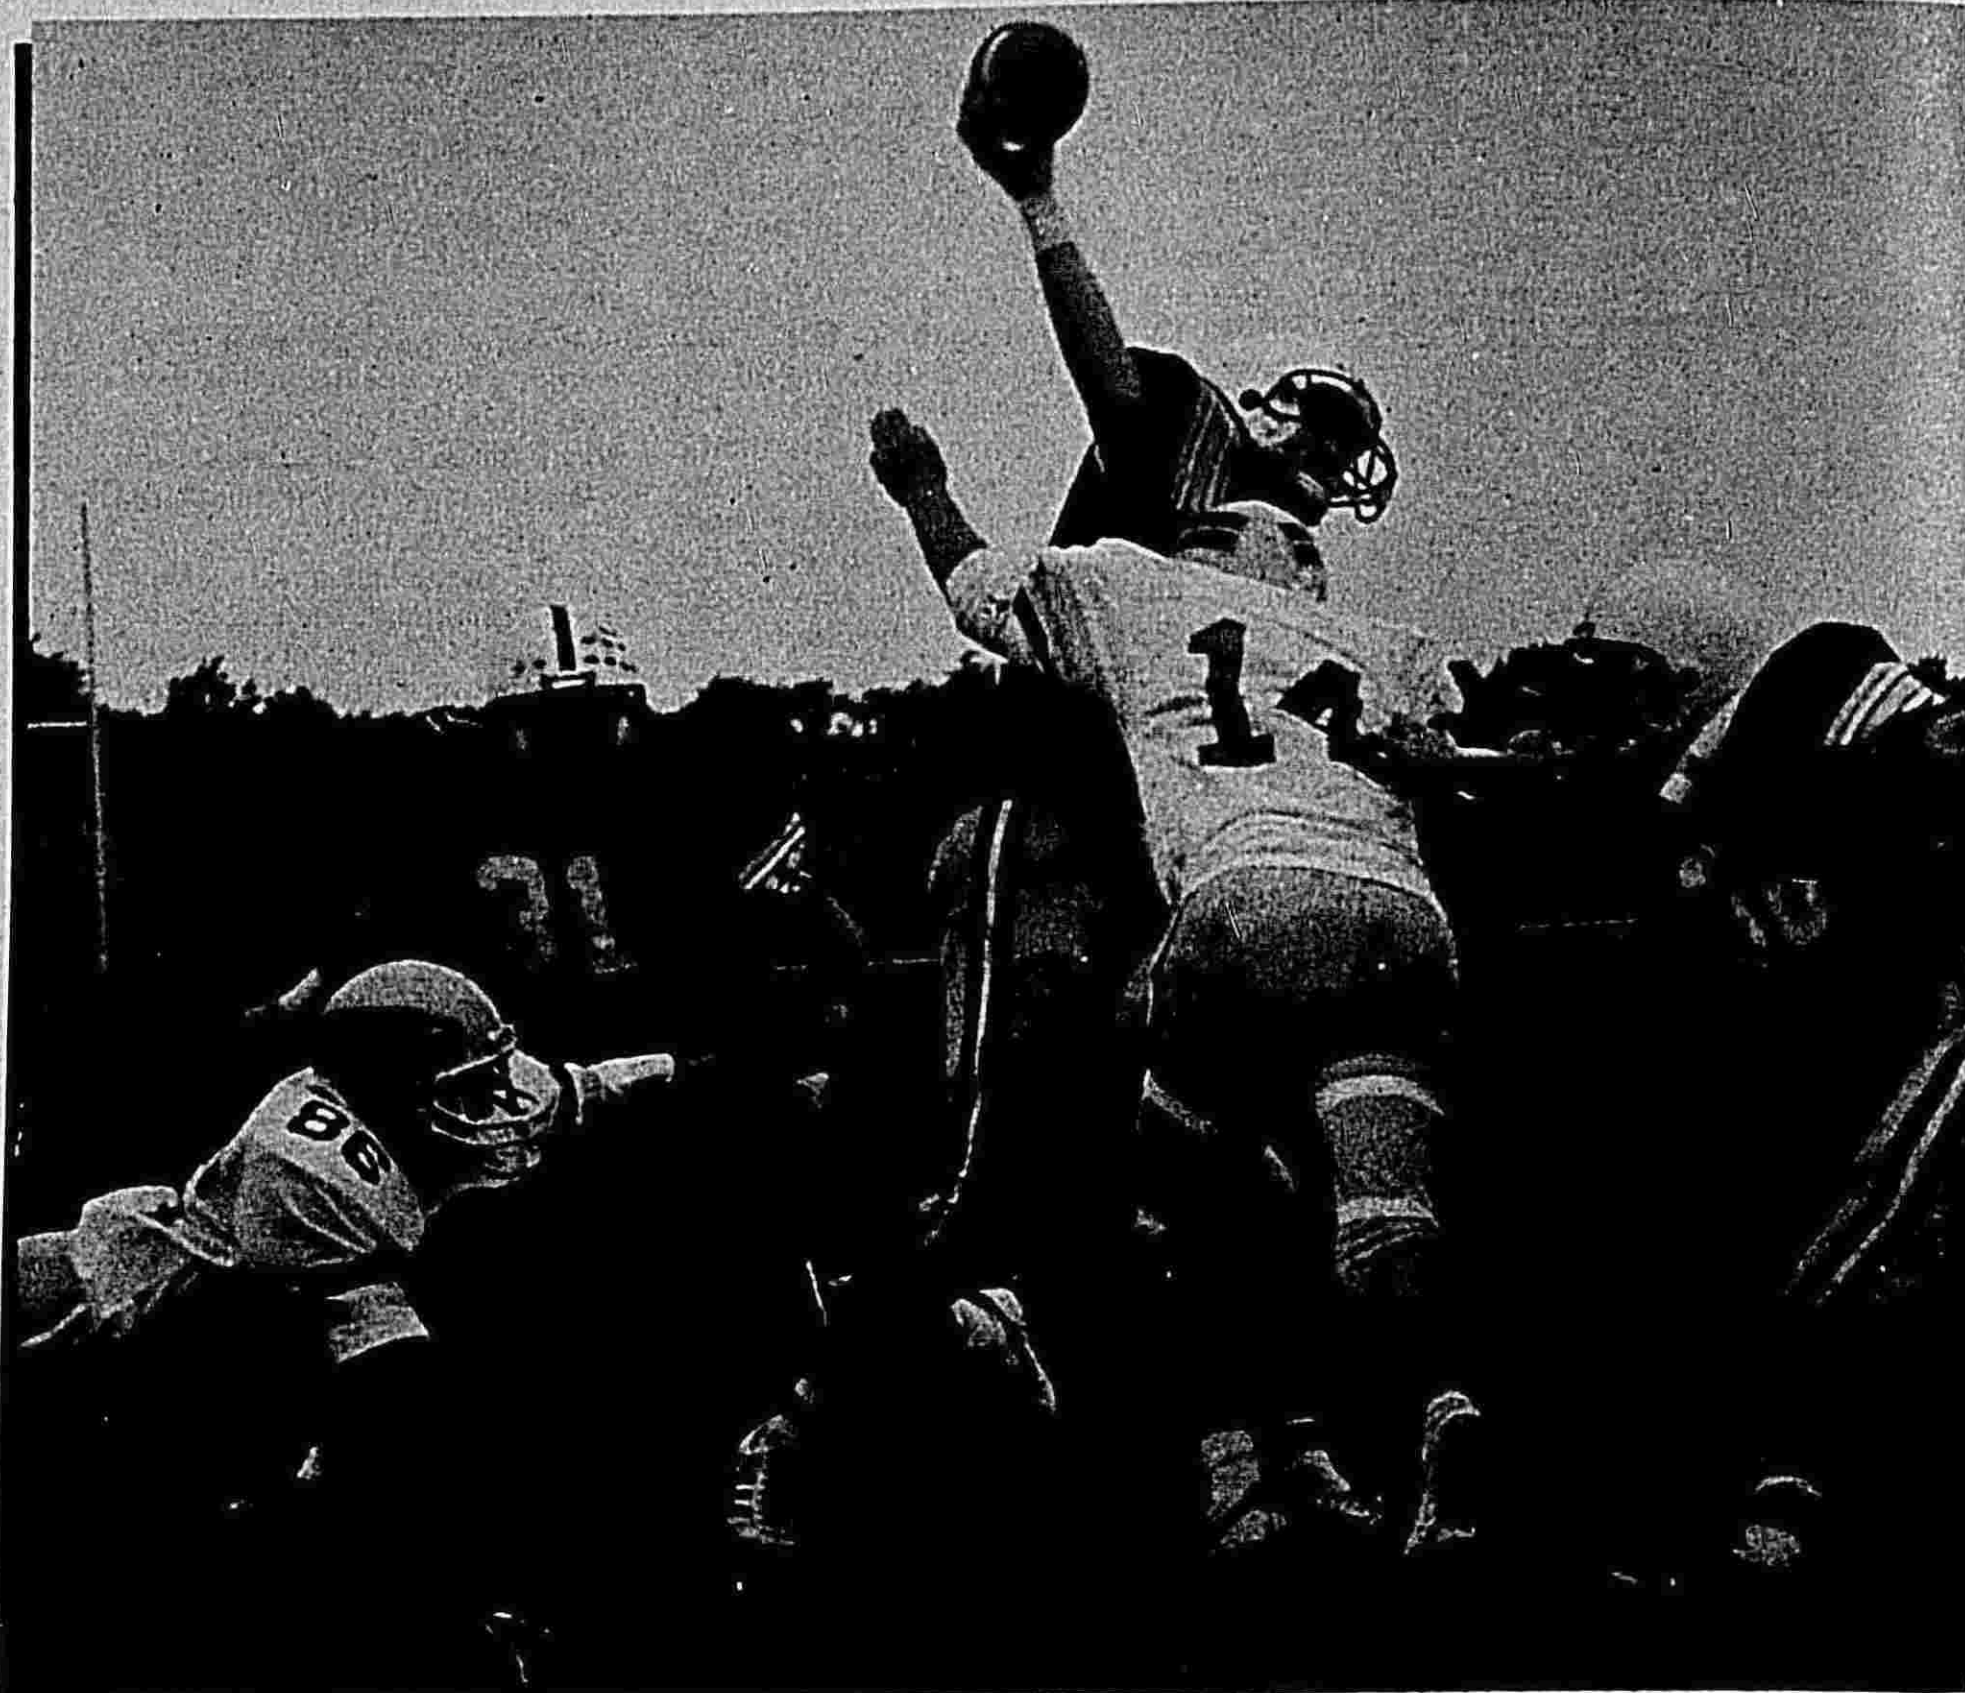

In the North Suburban, Lake Forest, with a 34-0 romp over Antioch, is on top alone at 3-0. A group of teams, including Warren, is at 2-1. The Blue Devils will face their NSC contention test when they travel to Lake Forest Sept. 26. A win means contention a loss means the Devils backs are against the proverbial wall.

In the Northwest Suburban, Grant let it be known it is defending league champs with 29-0 whitewash of Wauconda. Other first game winners in NWSC season were Johnsbury, Round Lake and Marian Central.

Bad omen?

Carmel's football coaching staff may cringe if the Corsairs march down the field on the opening kickoff and score against Joliet Catholic in East Suburban Catholic Conference play Sept. 25.

The Corsairs have done just that in their last two games losing 26-7 to Woodstock and 20-6 to Marist.

Under heavy pressure

Grayslake quarterback Timm West finds himself under heavy pressure from Johnsbury defenders. Johnsbury won contest 14-6. Johnsbury hosts Marengo Sept. 26 and Grayslake is at Marian Central Sept. 26 in league play this week.

Round Lake, Bears clash in Panthers' Homecoming

Two teams heading in apparently different directions will be featured when Lake Zurich invades Round Lake for Round Lake's Homecoming contest Sept. 26. Game time is 2 p.m.

The host Panthers will be coming off a 29-0 romp over Wauconda while the Bears lost 22-8 to Marian Central in Northwest Suburban Conference openers last week.

"Our offense was not real predictable. We attacked in many different directions," Round Lake coach Mike Dunn said.

As for the Bears, Dunn said the team is one which likes to throw the ball a lot. "We're going to try and control the football," Dunn said.

Quarterback Todd Collis, a senior, is coming off his best game of the year, Dunn said.

The Panthers one-two punch of Aaron Meeke and Laphonso Woods both did damage against Wauconda and are two players the Bears' defense will have to stop. Woods had 78 yards in 10 carries. Meeke had 62 yards in 10 carries. All told, the ground attack chalked up 252 yards.

Dunn praised the work of his team's defense, which had surrendered 34 points to Dundee-Crown the week before.

"The defense really came to play," Dunn said.

Wauconda advanced inside Round Lake's 30 four times, but the Bulldogs were rejected each time.

For Lake Zurich coach Wayne Kuklinski, the contest is a case of out-of-the-frying pan and into the fire. After losing to Fox Valley Conference contender Cary-Grove, the Bears were stopped by Marian Central, a former Class 2A state champion. The Round Lake game, then, will mark the third straight contest in which the Bears will face a league contender.

"I said at the beginning of the season that we would find out in a hurry how good we are," a dejected Kuklinski said.

Kuklinski could not find any bright spots after the conference loss at home. "I'm not pleased with anybody. It was an extremely poor showing of football on our part," Kuklinski said.

After a scoreless first quarter, Marian started on its own 21. The Hurricanes got a break on the third play when Lake Zurich was called for pass interference on third-and-eight.

Marian quarterback Jim Hartlieb completed several passes over the middle throughout the day. Completions of 13 yards and another of 25 to Greg Geils brought the ball to the hosts 27.

A pass to Greg Penza picked up 11 after a short run to the 14.

Lake Zurich stopped Marian three straight times. But when the Hurricanes had the ball inside the one on fourth down, Hartlieb snuck across for the touchdown for a 6-0 lead.

The next time the Hurricanes had the ball, they pulled off the play which broke the Bears' hopes.

Following two big sacks from the Lake Zurich defense, Hartlieb took the snap from center on fourth down but faked. Hartlieb tossed a pass to Geils, who caught the ball over the middle and easily outraced the shocked Bears for a 62-yard run. Hartlieb then rubbed it in, running for a two-point conversion to give Marian a 15-0 lead with 1:03 left in the second quarter.

Chris Boucher recovered a Marian fumble in the third quarter at the Lake Zurich 43. But on the very next play, Marian recovered a Bears fumble, giving the Hurricanes the ball at the 44.

Eight plays later, Hartlieb scored from three yards out for a 22-0 lead.

The Bears broke the shutout attempt with a little less than five minutes left in the fourth quarter.

Mike Barber picked off a Marian pass to give Lake Zurich the ball at the Hurricane 45.

Quarterback Todd Kuklinski completed passes to Eric Walker and Troy Org.

The key break for Lake Zurich came when Marian was called for offsides, giving the hosts first and goal at the three. Kuklinski took over from there, scoring on a three-yard run with 4:49 left. Martin Milner carried for the two-point conversion after a faked pass attempt.

Warren, Antioch both to face key North Suburban contest

Lake Forest is anything they're rated and they were rated No. 2 in Class 4a," Antioch coach Steve Wapona said.

Wapona should have been away impressed by what the Scouts did at Lake Forest Saturday, hoping the home team

Warren is the next North Suburban Conference team to try and knock off the pre-season favorite Scouts. An upset victory at Lake Forest would give the Blue Devils a solid shot at the title. Warren comes into the NSC contest with a 2-1 record after narrowly escaping with a win over North Chicago.

Antioch had trouble defending against Lake Forest's one-two punch. The run, and Lake Forest will hit you with yards passing. Stop the pass, and defenses will have to battle 183 yards rushing.

"They run and throw the ball both. That's what makes them so tough," Wapona said.

"This team plays well enough to beat anybody and bad enough to lose to anybody," Warren coach Reggie Hughes said after the fingernail biter.

The Blue Devils' only touchdown of the night came when quarterback Derek Shelton found Dave Davis wide open down the sideline for a 52-yard strike. Darrin Leith's extra point made it 7-0 Warren in the opening minute of the second quarter.

"Derek scrambled well for the amount of pressure they put on him. They have an eight or nine man line and dare you to throw the football," Hughes said.

North Chicago coach Wayne Fiedler, whose team slip to 1-2, saw the play differently.

"The officials blew the call. The linemen were almost to the point of where he (Shelton) threw the ball," Fiedler said.

Whatever, the extra point try by Leith made the difference.

"Darrin is the closest thing we have to a pro. Most players have offensive and defensive assignments. Darrin's job is to kick," Hughes said.

The transfer student from Zion-Benton has been doing that well for Warren. Two weeks ago, he got the team started with a field goal against Niles North.

The Warren-North Chicago contest was played on a slick field in Gurnee because of rains which ended almost exactly when the game started. Penalties and two ejections marred the contest as well as several injuries.

North Chicago's Dameron Bradford suffered the worst and he had to be taken off the field by stretcher.

North Chicago did have its chances in the waning seconds.

A blocked punt gave the visitors the ball at the Warren 12. Three plays later, quarterback Jeff Patterson had his first completion of the night - a toss to Anthony Burton for a touchdown. North Chicago tried for the two point conversion, but the pass from Patterson was too high for the intended receiver.

North Chicago had one last chance with less than a minute left but an interception dashed those hopes.

While Warren will be hoping to climb into a tie for first, Antioch will be trying to rediscover its offense at Zion-Benton Sept. 26. The Sequoias, in the 34-0 loss to Lake Forest, have now been held without a touchdown for two games after starting the year with a 22-7 win over Libertyville.

"They came right down the field at us. It was 13-0 before we knew what hit us," Wapona said.

Lake Forest quarterback Matt Slone threw three touchdown passes, one to Doug Cayce and two to John Jackson.

"They threw the ball to Jackson very well," Wapona said.

Grant's girls shooting for title at Crystal Lake invitational

Grant and several other Lake County cross country teams will be converging on Veterans Acres park in Crystal Lake for the annual Grant-Crystal Lake Central Invitational.

The Bulldogs will be coming off another solid showing in invitational meets.

Saturday Grant competed in the Warren Invitational and the girls team placed a strong second, losing out to only Lake Park.

Cindy Edwards finished third out of nearly 80 runners. Nicole Czchowski was eighth, Lori herman 23, Jenny Loring 27th and Janice Selle 28th. Also running for Grant were Debbie Seele and Pam Short.

The varsity boys, led by Mike Russo's ninth place finish, finished seventh out of the 14 teams participating. The frosh-soph team, led by Kyle Rejholec, finished in seventh place as well.

In Northwest Suburban

Conference dual meets, the teams had mixed results against Johnsbury.

The girls continued their winning ways by defeating the Skyhawks 17-40. The Bulldogs were led by Edwards, Czchowski and Loring, who took the first three finishes in the race and Grant took five of the first six.

With the win, the girls are 2-0 in conference meets and have stretched their win streak to 17 meets. The boys are 0-2 in the NWSC.

The boys lost to Johnsbury, 21-38. Rejholec led Grant with a fourth place finish. The frosh-soph team won by forfeit.

Carmel aims for strong finish against Joliet Cath.

Carmel's football fans may be concerned if the Corsairs score first in the Oct. 25 home encounter with East Suburban Catholic. Conferred powerhouse Joliet Catholic.

No, it's not that the Corsair faithful have become disenchanted over their the home team's prospects.

But after two straight games in which the Corsairs have scored the first points only to lose the next 47 minutes, one must wonder. After scoring first against Woodstock, Carmel lost 7-7. After scoring first Friday at Marist, Carmel lost 20-6.

"Joliet Catholic is good and they like to show their dominance in the conference," Carmel coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

Joliet Catholic is 2-1 overall, 1-0 in ESCC play coming into the contest. Carmel dropped to 1-2 on the season following a loss to Marist in an away ESCC contest.

The Corsairs' chances looked good, however, when Donell Foster broke loose on a 50-yard draw play for a touchdown in the game's opening minutes. The score gave Carmel a 6-0 lead, its only advantage in the game.

"Their quarterback, Randy Rein really has a gun. He was able to connect on 10 of 22 passes but he threaded the needle," Fitzgibbons said.

And it wasn't as though Carmel defenders were falling asleep on the job, either. The Corsairs had two interceptions and sacked the Marist signal caller four times.

"We were right there all the time," Fitzgibbons said.

After Foster's score, the offense did not get close to the end zone, but did "have its chances".

Foster finished with 118 yards on 18 carries, an average of 6.5 yards per carry. Quarterback Thadd Sutter could only complete six of 22 passes for 58 yards.

Moments later, Matt Quin took the kickoff 96 yards for the go-ahead touchdown. Marist added a second period score when Kurt Niebrugge caught a Rien pass for 28 yards. Quinn scored his second touchdown on a 34-yard pass from Rein in the third quarter.

Elsewhere in the ESCC in Sept. 25 games, St. Viator hosts St. Joseph, Marist is at Niles Notre Dame and St. Patrick hosts Holy Cross.

Rams finish third in tourney, Panthers next in duals

Grayslake's girls tennis team will be hoping to sustain its position near the top of the Northwest Suburban Conference standings when the Rams host Round Lake in a dual meet Sept. 25.

"Round Lake is a team which could give us trouble. Their coach said they have 30 kids out for the team," Grayslake coach Paul Keller said.

The Rams started the week with a 2-3 dual meet record in overall meets. The Rams shutout Marian Central 5-0 in the league opener last week. The match against the Panthers, which begins at 4:30 p.m., was originally scheduled to be played last week but was rained out.

Following the match against Round Lake, Grayslake's netters will face Jacobs and Mundelein at the Mundelein Triangular Sept. 26. Some Grayslake players got a preview of what to expect from Jacobs at the Elk Grove Invitational meet Saturday.

The Rams finished third in the eight-team meet with 12 points, six behind winner Elk Grove.

"Everybody contributed picked up points," Kellersaid.

The highlight for Grayslake came when the No. 1 doubles team of Alice Norton and Julie Tortorici beat Jacobs' Kristin Lindstrom and Jacie Weber 6-3, 6-3 to win the doubles championship.

Several Rams contributed points by advancing to the consolation round finals.

At first singles, Celeste Hafner beat Jacobs' Ann Nelson 6-3, 6-1 for the consolation title.

At second singles, Dawn Wismer topped Timothy Christian's Dee Pamelung 6-3, 6-2.

Jenny Grube lost in the consolation final at No. 3 singles to Kar Norgard of Elmwood Park in a three-set match. After losing the first 6-3, Grube tied the match with a 6-4 win in set two. The third set went to a tie-break before Norgard won 7-6.

The second double team of Kristen Basc and Jenny Sponholtz lost in the consolation final to Wheeling's Traci Gu and Jenny Hung in three-set match. Grayslake won the first set 7-5, but lost the second 6-4 and the third in a 7-6 tiebreak.

Against Marian, most Grayslake players won handily as only one Hurricane had a four game win in a set.

At first singles, Hafner beat Jenny Will 6-1, 6-0.

At second singles, Wismer bested Betty Mattis 6-1, 6-4. And at third singles, Basc defeated Ellen Shjokow 6-1, 6-0.

In doubles, Norton and Tortorici beat Michelle Martinez and Nicole Murrey 6-1, 6-2.

At second doubles, Mary Ann Higgins and Spanholtz topped Kelly Green and Kate Bostinger 6-0, 6-3.

Missed opportunities let Wildcats run by Stevenson

After the Stevenson Patriots' loss to the Libertyville Wildcats on Friday, Sept. 18, the Patriots try to regroup and end its record to .500 as they play in North Chicago Saturday.

The 12-7 loss to the Wildcats dropped Stevenson's record to 1-2, while the Wildcats upped their record to 2-1.

Wildcat's quarterback Todd Anderson put Libertyville on the board first with a 93-yard quarterback draw. Anderson rolled to his left with 3 minutes and 10 seconds left in the first quarter and swept up the sideline leaving most of the Stevenson defense back at the 30-yard-line.

A penalty deleted the extra point and the Wildcats lead Stevenson 6-0.

With just little less than 2 minutes left in the first quarter, Anderson tossed a 30-yard pass to Jason Graham, who coupled it with a 30-yard run and Libertyville upped the score to 12-0. Evidently that was all the Wildcats needed.

The Patriots put together their only score in the third quarter with a 60-yard drive, elapsing several minutes off the clock.

On a fourth and three play, fullback Chris Holder broke through three tackles for a 22-yard run. On the next series of plays, Holder pushed his way through for a two-yard-run, scoring the Patriot's only score.
